

12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind

TOPIC: PEACE

Q: What happens to our peace when the mind takes over?

A: In a matter of moments, our peace does cease because the mind is a rascal that can seize our bliss and peace. Therefore, we must be aware of this thief, the mind. When the mind appears, peace disappears. But unfortunately, we are not even aware that it is the mind that robs us of our peace. We don't even know what the mind is. We think it is our best friend, when in reality, it is an enemy that robs us of our peace and Happiness.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 1: Find The Thief Who Is Stealing Our Peace, Page 9

Q: Is it possible to find peace if we already have everything else?

A: We may have everything, but if we have no peace, we cannot be happy. And the reason why we lose our peace is the mind. How can we find peace? Peace, we do not have to find. It is within. We just have to still the mind! But unfortunately, when we try to find the mind, where is the mind, we cannot find! Still, it appears as a bundle of toxic thoughts to steal our peace and bliss.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 1: Find The Thief Who Is Stealing Our Peace, Page 10

Q: What are the specific reasons we lose our peace of mind?

A: Why do we lose our peace of mind? We lose our peace because of the 7 miseries that predominantly make us unhappy. They are fear, worry, stress, anxiety, regret, shame and guilt. When these toxic emotions enter our life, instantly, peace exits. And peace is the foundation of Happiness. In a flash of a moment, our bliss is replaced with the shadow of unhappiness.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 1: Find The Thief Who Is Stealing Our Peace, Page 10

Q: Can peace and the mind coexist?

A: We are all seeking peace and Happiness. Little do we realize that where there is a mind, there will be no peace, just as when there is peace, there will be no mind. Enter mind, exit peace! Enter peace, exit mind! It is our choice. The mind is the enemy of peace. It does not want us to be peaceful, for in that state of peace, the mind ceases to exist. Therefore, the mind fights very hard to bombard us with thoughts.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 2: Try To Find The Mind Which You Cannot Find!, Page 20

Q: What is the first step toward living with peace?

A: If you are seeking peace of mind, first, eliminate the mind. And if you want to remove the mind, you must try to find the mind. In that very moment, when you realize that the mind does not exist, you begin your journey to live with peace.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 2: Try To Find The Mind Which You Cannot Find!, Page 21

Q: How can I stop the mind from attacking my peace?

A: The simple way to kill the mind is to still the mind. We have to slow down its pace. The mind can create a whopping 50,000 thoughts a day. It can shoot at us up to 50 toxic bullets of thoughts every minute. In this state of mental attack, it is impossible to kill the mind. The only way is to still the mind. If we become aware of the mind, the mind becomes conscious and slows down its pace of manufacturing and hurling toxic thoughts at us.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 3: Still The Mind And Kill The Mind, Page 25

Q: How can meditation help me find peace?

A: If we want peace of mind and if we want to eliminate mental illness, we have to still the mind. We have to make silence and meditation a part of our daily routine if we want to enjoy a state of peace, the very foundation of Happiness.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 3: Still The Mind And Kill The Mind, Page 27

Q: How do I move from a restless mind to a peaceful state of consciousness?

A: To find peace of mind, we have to change our state of mind. We have to flip over from the mind state to the state of Consciousness. But how can we move from mind to Consciousness? . . . Through the practice of silence and meditation, we can slow down the MTR, till ultimately, there is no mind, just a few random thoughts that roam through our Consciousness.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 4: Flip Over To The State Of Consciousness, Page 31

Q: What role does the intellect play in maintaining peace?

A: When the intellect is active, we can live in Consciousness, without giving the illusory mind, space to dominate and discriminate. Within each one of us, we can hear two voices – one voice is that of the rascal mind that makes us blind. The second voice is the voice of the intellect, which makes us discriminate and select.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 5: Activate The Intellect, The Tool Of Discrimination, Page 40

Q: What is the only way to ensure toxic thoughts stop destroying peace?

A: The only way to find peace is by making toxic thoughts cease. The way to do it is to lock the mind. The only instrument that can lock the mind is the intellect and the intellect cannot be activated other than in Consciousness. Therefore, we must consciously lock the mind through the intellect to find peace.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 6: Lock The Mind, Page 48

Q: Why do we lose the natural peace we had as children?

A: Peace is our birthright. It is within each one of us. Have you seen a young child lose their peace? A child will giggle without any fear or stress. Then, what makes our life a mess? As we grow up, we open the door to the Mind and Ego that becomes ME. Then, we are not free! We experience misery and lose our peace because the mind takes charge.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 6: Lock The Mind, Page 51

Q: How can I fill my life with peace and positive energy?

A: The key to living a positive life, which can be filled with peace, love and bliss is to make a conscious choice of choosing the right emotions. When the thought of hate appears, we must confront it with the emotion of love, just as when doubt knocks at our door, we should throw it out and get faith to enter our gate. Every negative emotion will create a negative impression in our Consciousness and therefore, cause negative thought impulse. But if we are conscious to choose positive emotions, our Consciousness will reflect positive thought impulses.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 8: Flip Over From Negative To Positive, Page 63

Q: What is the relationship between contentment and peace?

A: Contentment gives peace but unless we discover our true purpose, 'Who am I? Why am I here?' we will never reach that state of Eternal Happiness, which requires us to be established in Truth Consciousness.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Afterword, Page 96

Q: How can realizing I am the Soul lead to eternal peace?

A: To enjoy a state of Eternal Peace and Everlasting Bliss, where the fountain of love flows, one must learn to live as the Divine Soul. We have to be established in this Awareness, this Consciousness that we are not the body that suffers, we are not the mind that creates misery and we are not the ego that creates so much agony; we are the Divine Soul. This Realization is the twelfth step to living with Eternal Peace.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 12: Live As The Divine Soul, Page 91

Q: Can anything steal my peace once I live as the Divine Soul?

A: Living as the Divine Soul means being established in the Consciousness of the truth of who we are. Nothing can steal our peace and our bliss because we become one with the Divine. Although we are still encapsulated in the body but since we have eliminated the mind and transcended the ego, we live as the Divine Soul that is free from all suffering.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 12: Live As The Divine Soul, Page 93

THE MIND

Q: Who is the thief who steals our peace?

A: Every now and then, we lose our peace. Misery and gloom take over our life. But what is the cause of this? What is creating this unhappiness? Little do we realize that the joy stealer is the mind. The rascal mind is the thief! It does not knock at our door. It enters uninvited and pushes us on the floor. Then toxic thoughts pour like rain and we become miserable, again and again. The culprit is the mind. Our mind is the thief that steals our peace.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 1: Find The Thief Who Is Stealing Our Peace, Page 9

Q: Where is the mind located in our body?

A: Nobody has ever seen the mind. Still, it seems to exist. It makes us miserable and sad. It makes us worry till we are mad! Nobody can deny the existence of the mind. But where is the mind, you cannot find! Some people think that the mind is in the head. That is where the brain is. Today, the world differentiates between the brain and the mind. The brain is the hardware. The mind is the software. The mind seems to exist in every part of our body for we can trigger thoughts from our toes to our head. Therefore, where is the mind? We cannot find because the mind has no tangible physical existence.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 2: Try To Find The Mind Which You Cannot Find!, Page 15

Q: What does the acronym MIND stand for?

A: What is the mind? It is nothing but Misery, Ignorance, Negativity and Desire. When we read this for the first time, we may be surprised because we have been taught so many good things about the mind. So, we remain a fool because of what we are taught in school. Little do we realize that the mind causes our misery due to ignorance and negativity.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 1: Find The Thief Who Is Stealing Our Peace, Page 11

Q: What is the mind made of?

A: The mind as a software only has a subtle existence. It cannot be seen, even though it appears to exist. What is the mind? It is just a bundle of toxic thoughts. When negative thoughts get together and attack us, and they pour like rain and make us miserable again and again, we feel the presence of the toxic mind.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 2: Try To Find The Mind Which You Cannot Find!, Page 16

Q: How can we kill a mind that we cannot find?

A: The simple way to kill the mind is to still the mind. We have to slow down its pace. The mind can create a whopping 50,000 thoughts a day. It can shoot at us up to 50 toxic bullets of thoughts every minute. In this state of mental attack, it is impossible to kill the mind. The only way is to still the mind. If we become aware of the mind, the mind becomes conscious and slows down its pace of manufacturing and hurling toxic thoughts at us.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 3: Still The Mind And Kill The Mind, Page 25

Q: What are the symptoms that indicate the presence of the mind?

A: While we cannot see the mind, we can definitely become aware of the mind. Its existence is accompanied by toxic emotions. We become afraid of a false expectation that appears real. We overthink our problem and make a mountain out of a molehill. We let a perceived danger drill us and kill us. We start sweating, become nervous and even depressed. What are all these symptoms? These symptoms indicate the presence of the mind. While we cannot see it physically, we can feel its existence because of the toxic feelings created by the poisonous thoughts of the mind.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 2: Try To Find The Mind Which You Cannot Find!, Page 18

Q: What are the seven miseries of the mind?

A: We lose our peace because of the 7 miseries that predominantly make us unhappy. They are fear, worry, stress, anxiety, regret, shame and guilt. When these toxic emotions enter our life,

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 1: Find The Thief Who Is Stealing Our Peace, Page 10

Q: How do we block and lock the mind?

A: The way to block the mind and stop it from pushing our peace behind is to still the mind. Silence and meditation are some of the ways to still the mind. Unfortunately, we are unable to block the mind because we are ever ready to listen to what the mind has to say. In rotten thoughts we are caught as the mind continues to drill us and kill us. The mind is not just one or two thoughts. It is a bundle of about 50,000 toxic thoughts that gush like lava flowing from an erupting volcano.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 6: Lock The Mind, Page 45

Q: Why is the mind compared to a monkey?

A: The mind is a monkey. It is constantly jumping into a yesterday that is gone and a tomorrow, not yet born. It creates fear, worry, and stress and makes our life a mess! Unless we make the monkey, a monk, our peace will be shattered into pieces and anxiety will replace our tranquillity. Notice the word 'Monkey'. In fact, it is a 'Monk' with a tail. The tail of the monk is EY. What is this EY? When a human being is led by the mind that is EY – Ever-Yelling and Ever-Yearning, the erstwhile monk becomes a monkEY.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 9: Tame The Monkey Mind, Make It A Monk, Page 69

Q: How does the mind act as a negative thought factory?

A: The mind is a thought factory. Mostly, a negative thought factory. Its job is only to create NEP, Negative Energy Poison. It fills us with negative emotions, energy in motion that creates depression, misery and sorrow. What does the mind do? It chooses emotions of fear, worry, stress, anxiety, regret, shame and guilt. With its best friend, the ego, it further adds toxic emotions like anger, hate, revenge, jealousy, pride, greed and selfishness.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 8: Flip Over From Negative To Positive, Page 62

Q: How do individual thoughts accumulate to become the mind?

A: The fact is that the mind appears to exist. The reality is that the mind is that bundle of toxic thoughts that drills us and kills us. Unfortunately, we are not aware that these toxic thoughts bombard us and become the mind. As long as thoughts exist randomly, there is no mind. But when we permit toxic thoughts to accumulate, they become the mind. A drop of water cannot fill a bucket but when you leave the tap open, drop by drop, the bucket becomes full, it can overflow and wet the entire floor. One will wonder how a single drop of water can wet the floor. Sure, it can't but a full bucket can! So, one toxic thought cannot kill us but the mind can.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 11: Eliminate The Mind, Page 85

Q: Why is the mind compared to a Phoenix?

A: The mind is like a Phoenix. Even though we still it and we kill it, it will rise from the ashes. All it needs to do is to penetrate our Consciousness and deactivate the intellect. Then, it will become the master and we will face disaster! Therefore, being in SatChitAnanda means that we must beware of the mind and how it can attack us with up to 50 toxic thoughts a minute, thoughts that can drill us and kill us!

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 10: Live In SatChitAnanda, Page 79

Q: What is the result of taming the monkey mind?

A: There is a constant chatter of toxic thoughts in our head creates regret, shame and guilt and soon, we are dead! What if we cut away the tail of the monkey mind? What will be left is a peaceful monk. Deep within us is a Divine voice, a voice in our Consciousness, often referred to as the voice of our conscience. There is no doubt that this inner voice is alive. But because of the noise of the monkey mind, we cannot hear this Divine voice. We must stop the outer noise to hear that inner voice.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 9: Tame The Monkey Mind, Make It A Monk, Page 69

Q: What happens to thoughts when we still the mind?

A: We must focus on our MTR, the Mental Thought Rate. Slowly and steadily, we can reduce the flow of thoughts in our head. From 50 thoughts a minute, it can become 40 thoughts, then, 30 thoughts, till ultimately, thoughts don't pour like rain. They appear as gentle snowflakes, one-by-one, as we freeze our mind into a coma. The mind that has no real existence must be eliminated. It must be decimated and destroyed. This is life's biggest challenge!

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 3: Still The Mind And Kill The Mind, Page 25

Q: How does the mind influence the ego?

A: When we follow the 12 steps discussed in this book, we will suffer and cry till we die. The mind also ignites the ignorance of the false ego and with it, creates 7 more monsters that cause agony and anguish. It is the mind that makes us think, 'I am 'I'. I will die.' The false ego is a product of the mind. The ego, in reality, is just an identity of our existence. Without the mind, it can be peaceful and not cause us any pain. But because of the mind, we experience the Mind and Ego as ME and we are not free from misery.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 7: Overcome The 14 Miseries Of Life, Page 54

THOUGHTSQ: What is the MK-50 and how does it affect our peace of mind?

A: We may be celebrating something, we may be very happy but in a flash of a moment, we are shot down by the MK-50! The Mind-Killer-50 shoots at us up to 50 toxic thoughts a minute and then, we are dead because there is poison in our head. It may be a thought of fear that drills us and kills us or needless worry that makes us overthink. Sometimes, it is just unproductive stress that leads to anxiety. Whatever it be, these are toxic thoughts of the mind.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 1: Find The Thief Who Is Stealing Our Peace, Page 9

Q: How many thoughts does the mind produce in a single day?

A: What is the mind? We confuse the mind with thoughts. Thoughts may be positive or negative but the mind is primarily a bundle of toxic thoughts that becomes the MK-50, the Mind-Killer-50. It can create up to 50 miserable thoughts every minute. This can amount to a whopping 50,000 toxic thoughts every day. No wonder the mind has such a profound influence on our lives. A mind that we cannot find, yet, it has such a presence that it makes us leave all our peace and Happiness behind.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 2: Try To Find The Mind Which You Cannot Find!, Page 17

Q: What is the first step to destroying the mind's influence over us?

A: The simple way to kill the mind is to still the mind. We have to slow down its pace. The mind can create a whopping 50,000 thoughts a day. It can shoot at us up to 50 toxic bullets of thoughts every minute. In this state of mental attack, it is impossible to kill the mind. The only way is to still the mind. If we become aware of the mind, the mind becomes conscious and slows down its pace of manufacturing and hurling toxic thoughts at us.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 3: Still The Mind And Kill The Mind, Page 25

Q: How can I slow down the rate at which I think?

A: We must focus on our MTR, the Mental Thought Rate. Slowly and steadily, we can reduce the flow of thoughts in our head. From 50 thoughts a minute, it can become 40 thoughts, then, 30 thoughts, till ultimately, thoughts don't pour like rain. They appear as gentle snowflakes, one-by-one, as we freeze our mind into a coma. The mind that has no real existence must be eliminated. It must be decimated and destroyed. This is life's biggest challenge!

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 3: Still The Mind And Kill The Mind, Page 25

Q: How do I become the master of my own thoughts?

A: When thoughts gently appear in our head, it is a signal that we have succeeded in stilling the mind. The mind no more drills us and kills us. In place of the mind, thoughts will continue to wander in our Consciousness. It is in this state that we can build a dam because there is no

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 4: Flip Over To The State Of Consciousness, Page 32

Q: Who should manage my "thought factory" to ensure I have a peaceful life?

A: Our mind is like a thought factory. It is constantly producing thoughts. What kind of thoughts do we produce? It depends on who the manager of this thought factory is. If the thought factory is managed by the mind, it will constantly produce negative thoughts but if the manager of the thought factory is the intellect, it will eliminate the mind and produce only positive thoughts.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 5: Activate The Intellect, The Tool Of Discrimination, Page 41

Q: Is it actually possible to stop thinking entirely?

A: As long as we are alive, just as we breathe, we will think. But with the intellect in command, we will be the master of our thoughts. We will not be caught in any toxic thought. Do you want to choose your thoughts? Do you want to choose your life? You have a choice. You can either lose your peace of mind by letting your mind take charge of your thought factory or you can activate your intellect and eliminate the mind.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 5: Activate The Intellect, The Tool Of Discrimination, Page 43

Q: What is the best way to block the mind from interfering with my peace?

A: The way to block the mind and stop it from pushing our peace behind is to still the mind. Silence and meditation are some of the ways to still the mind. Unfortunately, we are unable to block the mind because we are ever ready to listen to what the mind has to say. In rotten thoughts we are caught as the mind continues to drill us and kill us. The mind is not just one or two thoughts. It is a bundle of about 50,000 toxic thoughts that gush like lava flowing from an erupting volcano.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 6: Lock The Mind, Page 45

Q: What is the relationship between our emotions and our thoughts?

A: What is a thought? A thought is an impulse, which is an expression of an emotional impression in our Consciousness. Therefore, thoughts depend on emotions. Emotions are the raw material fed into the mind, the thought factory, to produce thoughts. For instance, imagine that we want to manufacture bottles. If we provide glass as the raw material, we will get glass bottles. But if we provide plastic, we will get plastic bottles. It is the same with thoughts. The

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 8: Flip Over From Negative To Positive, Page 60

Q: How can I train myself to think more positively?

A: We feed our Consciousness with positive emotions like faith, hope, trust, enthusiasm, peace, love, bliss, courage, confidence, forgiveness and optimism. When such emotions fill our Consciousness, these emotions – energy in motion, create PEP, Positive Energy Power. These positive emotions are the positive impressions that create a reflection of the expression of positive thoughts. Positive in, positive out. Negative in, negative out. If one lives in Consciousness, eliminating the mind and activating the intellect, one can enjoy positive thoughts, just as one can live a life of peace, love and bliss.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 8: Flip Over From Negative To Positive, Page 62

Q: How do my thoughts eventually determine my destiny?

A: What is the thought chain? Thoughts create feelings. Feelings create actions. Actions create habits. Habits create character and character creates our destiny. We must have heard of this before but we have not learned what creates thoughts. It is very easy for somebody to say, 'Think positive!' but the challenge is, 'How can I think positive?' Here is the secret. If you choose positive emotions over negative emotions, you are feeding the thought factory with positive raw material.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 8: Flip Over From Negative To Positive, Page 66

Q: What does it mean to have a "monkey mind"?

A: The monkey has a tail. Notice the word 'Monkey'. In fact, it is a 'Monk' with a tail. The tail of the monk is EY. What is this EY? When a human being is led by the mind that is EY – Ever-Yelling and Ever-Yearning, the erstwhile monk becomes a monkEY. Who has made the monk into a monkEY? It is the mind and so we call the mind, the monkey mind. Unless we tame this monkey mind, peace, we cannot find.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 9: Tame The Monkey Mind, Make It A Monk, Page 69

Q: Why is overthinking so dangerous for our mental health?

A: The mind doesn't stop thinking. It bombards us with up to 50 thoughts a minute. This overthinking leads to worry. How can we be at peace? What is the way to stop this overthinking? We must tame the monkey. We must slow down its pace. Then, we will win the race. The monkey is trying to be an ace in the chase called life and thus, we lose our peace and our grace. The moment the monkey becomes a monk, there is no overthinking, there is no worry, no anxiety.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 9: Tame The Monkey Mind, Make It A Monk, Page 72

Q: Why should I worry about a few negative thoughts?

A: A drop of water cannot fill a bucket but when you leave the tap open, drop by drop, the bucket becomes full, it can overflow and wet the entire floor. One will wonder how a single drop of water can wet the floor. Sure, it can't but a full bucket can! So, one toxic thought cannot kill us but the mind can. The 11th step to finding peace of mind is - to eliminate the mind.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 11: Eliminate The Mind, Page 85

Q: Can a person actually survive and function without a mind?

A: Some people become nervous. How can we live without the mind? It is because they have not learned the difference between the mind and thoughts. When we eliminate the mind, thoughts will still remain but they will appear gently in our Consciousness, like little fish entering an ocean.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 11: Eliminate The Mind, Page 86

FEAR, WORRY, STRESS & ANXIETY

Q: How does the mind steal my peace of mind?

A: When Do We Know That We Have Lost Our Peace?

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 1: Find The Thief Who Is Stealing Our Peace, Page 9

Q: What are the 7 miseries that make us lose our peace?

A: Why do we lose our peace of mind? We lose our peace because of the 7 miseries that predominantly make us unhappy. They are fear, worry, stress, anxiety, regret, shame and guilt. When these toxic emotions enter our life, instantly, peace exits. And peace is the foundation of Happiness. In a flash of a moment, our bliss is replaced with the shadow of unhappiness.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 1: Find The Thief Who Is Stealing Our Peace, Page 10

Q: How does the book define fear, worry, stress, and anxiety?

A: Fear is a False Expectation Appearing Real. It is not a real danger as the mind projects it to be. Worry is a waste of time, overthinking, repeating the fear, rehearsing the problem and yearning.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 1: Find The Thief Who Is Stealing Our Peace, Page 11

Q: What exactly is the mind according to AiR?

A: What is the mind? It is nothing but Misery, Ignorance, Negativity and Desire. When we read this for the first time, we may be surprised because we have been taught so many good things about the mind. So, we remain a fool because of what we are taught in school. Little do we realize that the mind causes our misery due to ignorance and negativity. We desire but this fire of desire can never quench our thirst. It can only make us burst with discontentment and disappointment, all because of the mind that makes us blind.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 1: Find The Thief Who Is Stealing Our Peace, Page 11

Q: What are the physical symptoms that indicate the mind is present?

A: While we cannot see the mind, we can definitely become aware of the mind. Its existence is accompanied by toxic emotions. We become afraid of a false expectation that appears real. We overthink our problem and make a mountain out of a molehill. We let a perceived danger drill us and kill us. we start sweating, become nervous and even depressed. What are all these symptoms? These symptoms indicate the presence of the mind. While we cannot see it physically, we can feel its existence because of the toxic feelings created by the poisonous thoughts of the mind.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 2: Try To Find The Mind Which You Cannot Find!, Page 18

Q: How can I stop the mind from attacking me with toxic thoughts?

A: The simple way to kill the mind is to still the mind. We have to slow down its pace. The mind can create a whopping 50,000 thoughts a day. It can shoot at us up to 50 toxic bullets of thoughts every minute. In this state of mental attack, it is impossible to kill the mind. The only way is to still the mind. If we become aware of the mind, the mind becomes conscious and slows down its pace of manufacturing and hurling toxic thoughts at us.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 3: Still The Mind And Kill The Mind, Page 25

Q: How can I overcome depression and mental illness using these steps?

A: The simple way to overcome mental illness is stillness. Psychiatrists and psychologists prescribe meditation and silence. But the truly awakened ones add contentment and fulfillment to the prescription. Unless we learn to count our blessings, the mind will not be still. Toxic

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 3: Still The Mind And Kill The Mind, Page 27

Q: Why is it necessary to stop the 'gushing river' of toxic thoughts?

A: Our greatest challenge is to stop this gushing river of toxic thoughts. Just like a river in spate needs a dam to stop its aggressive gush, we have to lock the mind, block the mind and stop its rush of toxic thoughts into our head. Otherwise, we will be dead! In fact, most of us experience this. We open the doors to the gushing river of toxic thoughts and then, we wonder why we are flooded with misery and sorrow. We do not realize that our head is filled with poisonous, miserable toxic thoughts.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 3: Still The Mind And Kill The Mind, Page 28

Q: What happens when I flip over to a state of Consciousness?

A: When we move from a state of mind to the state of Consciousness, we are no more paralyzed by innumerable negative thoughts that attack us. Thoughts, no more pour like rain, creating constant pain. These gentle thoughts get interspaced through moments of silence and this quiet space, where we are without miserable thoughts, increases till ultimately, there is no thought. As we watch each thought, we get a grip on it and we do not let it slip. The thought can no more spoil our mood, create negative feelings or lead us to a regrettable action.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 4: Flip Over To The State Of Consciousness, Page 32

Q: How does the intellect help me handle fear and anxiety?

A: When we reach the state of Consciousness after we still the mind, kill the mind and activate the special weapon called the intellect, the intellect does not permit toxic thoughts of fear, worry, stress and anxiety to rob us of our peace and tranquillity. How? The intellect discriminates each toxic thought and eliminates it. In fact, when the intellect takes charge, it builds a dam so that the gushing thoughts of the toxic river called the mind cannot flood us with misery and sorrow. The intellect eliminates all ignorance caused by the mind.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 5: Activate The Intellect, The Tool Of Discrimination, Page 40

Q: Once I lock the mind, can it still try to enter and cause stress?

A: Although we lock the door, the mind will not stop. It will try to somehow, enter. It will use every possible tactic to create fear and worry, stress and anxiety. Even if we lock the door of the mind, we are not free from the mind. The mind never gives up. It will continue to make every possible effort to steal our peace. Therefore, being in Consciousness and activating the intellect is not a one-time achievement. We must live in this state, all the time.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 6: Lock The Mind, Page 49

Q: Why is worry considered a waste of life?

A: Fear is not a danger. FEAR is – a False Expectation Appearing Real. What causes fear? The toxic thoughts of the mind. Poisonous thoughts pour like rain and we are paralyzed by fear. When there is fear, how can there be peace? Once the mind is done with fear, the mind then creates worry. WORRY is a complete Waste of life, with Overthinking, Repeating fears, Rehearsing problems and Yearning for things beyond our reach. We worry only because we are bombarded with negative thoughts of the mind.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 7: Overcome The 14 Miseries Of Life, Page 53

Q: How does the mind act as a 'negative thought factory'?

A: What does the mind do? It chooses emotions of fear, worry, stress, anxiety, regret, shame and guilt. With its best friend, the ego, it further adds toxic emotions like anger, hate, revenge, jealousy, pride, greed and selfishness. These emotions become energy in motion, creating negative impressions in our Consciousness. Don't you know the result? The result is negative expressions or impulses, which are nothing but negative thoughts. As long as the mind is the manager of our thought factory, we will only have misery. We cannot find peace!

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 8: Flip Over From Negative To Positive, Page 62

Q: How do I change my thoughts from negative to positive?

A: The eighth step is to flip from NEP to PEP, from negative to positive Thoughts, an important step. The Mind is a factory, constantly producing Thought. It is dangerous in negative Thoughts to be caught. But it is up to us, what raw material we give. Whatever we give, that is how we will live. If negative raw material to the factory we feed, then, worry and stress, not Peace will be the lead. So, we must fill our Mind with positive emotion and positive Thoughts will be the reaction.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Poem: 12 STEPS TO FIND PEACE OF MIND, Page 101

Q: If I eliminate the mind, will I stop having thoughts altogether?

A: What happens when we flip over from mind to Consciousness? What happens when we move from the mind's control to the intellect's control? Will there be no thoughts? Beware! The mind fools us into believing that thoughts will never stop. Sure, there will be a few thoughts that enter our intellect but there will be no mind. The mind attacks us as a bundle of toxic thoughts. But when we activate our intellect, our mind is locked outside our head. Thoughts then don't pour like rain. They don't attack us and push us down the drain, making us miserable, again and again.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 5: Activate The Intellect, The Tool Of Discrimination, Page 42

CONSCIOUSNESS

Q: How does becoming aware of the mind lead us to a state of peace?

A: The moment we realize that the mind is the one that steals our peace, we become aware of the miseries of the mind. Slowly, we awaken to the ignorance that it causes. If we are strong, we are able to eliminate the negative toxic thoughts of the mind and ultimately, eliminate the mind completely to live with peace.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 1: Find The Thief Who Is Stealing Our Peace, Page 12

Q: What happens to our state of consciousness when the mind takes charge?

A: Once we become aware of the mind, we can find ways to destroy it and eliminate it. Alas, most of us are not even aware that the rascal mind has taken charge of our life and our peace. The moment we become aware that the mind has arrived, we move into a mind state from a state of Consciousness. We lose awareness of life as the toxic thoughts of the mind overtake us, just as how dark clouds shadow a beautiful bright blue sky.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 2: Try To Find The Mind Which You Cannot Find!, Page 18

Q: When should we activate our consciousness to deal with the mind?

A: It is at this time when the mind is active and we are miserable that our Awareness, our Consciousness must be activated, if we want to kill the mind. We must learn to bring back Consciousness. If we are not bold and courageous enough to face the mind, it will deface us. So, the first step is becoming aware of the rascal mind.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 3: Still The Mind And Kill The Mind, Page 24

Q: What is the first step to flipping over to the state of Consciousness?

A: To find peace of mind, we have to change our state of mind. We have to flip over from the mind state to the state of Consciousness. But how can we move from mind to Consciousness? Without stopping the gushing river of thoughts, it is impossible to flip over to Consciousness. The mind is bombarding us with about 3000 thoughts an hour. How can we become conscious, become aware of each thought? Just like we build a dam to stop a gushing river, we have to lock the mind by blocking it.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 4: Flip Over To The State Of Consciousness, Page 31

Q: How does consciousness relate to the concept of 'Mindfulness'?

A: In the state of Consciousness, there is Awareness. We become aware of each thought, positive or negative. In this state, we can pick and choose our thoughts because there is no mind that fills us with poison. Therefore, many people call it, 'Mindfulness', not because the mind is full, rather because we become mindful that there is no mind. This is a state of practically no thoughts. Thoughtlessness doesn't mean the absence of thoughts but it definitely means the absence of the mind, the bundle of toxic thoughts.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 4: Flip Over To The State Of Consciousness, Page 33

Q: Does consciousness disappear forever when the mind is active?

A: As long as the mind exists, it will not permit us to experience Consciousness. It is just like how dark clouds make the bright blue sky disappear. Does the sky actually disappear? No! We all know that above the clouds, the sun is shining as we see glimpses of the sparkling bright sky. Those who have experienced taking off and flying in an aeroplane on a gloomy, cloudy, dark day, must have been pleasantly surprised to see the bright sunshine, once the aircraft breaks through the barriers of the dark clouds. So it is with Consciousness.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 4: Flip Over To The State Of Consciousness, Page 36

Q: How do we activate the intellect and disable the mind?

A: When the mind is bombarding us with thoughts, the intellect is disabled. But when the intellect is in charge, there is no mind. Our mind is like a thought factory. It is constantly producing thoughts. What kind of thoughts do we produce? It depends on who the manager of this thought factory is. If the thought factory is managed by the mind, it will constantly produce negative thoughts but if the manager of the thought factory is the intellect, it will eliminate the mind and produce only positive thoughts.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 5: Activate The Intellect, The Tool Of Discrimination, Page 41

Q: How can we effectively block and lock the mind?

A: The way to block the mind and stop it from pushing our peace behind is to still the mind. Silence and meditation are some of the ways to still the mind. Unfortunately, we are unable to block the mind because we are ever ready to listen to what the mind has to say. In rotten thoughts we are caught as the mind continues to drill us and kill us. The way to lock the mind and block the mind is to establish ourselves in Consciousness and activate the intellect.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 6: Lock The Mind, Page 45

Q: What does it mean to be a 'Sthitpragya'?

A: The word 'Sthitpragya', indicates a steady intellect, a state of unwavering Consciousness, where the intellect is in command. There is no sign of the mind, as we make it resign from our

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 6: Lock The Mind, Page 46

Q: What is the role of the witness or observer in consciousness?

A: When the intellect is the master, we lock the mind as we block it. We separate ourselves from being the mind as we remain still, silent, observing the toxic thoughts that are trying to attack us. The moment the mind is being observed, it stops gushing. We have already discovered that the mind is nothing but a bundle of toxic thoughts. When we slow down the MTR, the mind starts disintegrating. This is only possible in Consciousness. Then, each thought submits to the intellect for discrimination and slowly but steadily, there is an elimination of the mind.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 6: Lock The Mind, Page 45

Q: What does 'BBC' mean in the context of consciousness?

A: The first thing to do to experience SatChitAnanda is BBC, Bring Back Consciousness. When rotten thoughts appear, we must not let them develop into the toxic mind. In Consciousness, we can stop a toxic thought as we crop it, chop it and drop it. The intellect can block the mind and lock the mind, remaining in Consciousness of the truth. But the key is to Bring Back Consciousness, when the mind is trying to re-enter through a toxic thought. Unless the intellect is activated to audit every thought, we are in danger of slipping into the mind state.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 10: Live In SatChitAnanda, Page 77

Q: What is Truth Consciousness Bliss?

A: SatChitAnanda is a Divine state, an elevated state of peace. It is transcending the mind and Enlightening the ego. It is being in Consciousness of, 'Who am I? I am not the body that will die. I am not the Mind and Ego, ME. I am the Divine Soul.' Reaching this state of Truth Consciousness Bliss means one can be established in life with peace, love and bliss. But it is not an easy journey. The truth is the truth and in Consciousness, we can have bliss.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 10: Live In SatChitAnanda, Page 81

Q: How does living in the present moment conflict with the monkey mind?

A: Have you ever seen the pendulum of a clock, stop? Never! Unless, its battery, its power is finished. So, we have to switch off the power of the monkey to stop its swinging business. Peace is about living in the present moment, living life moment-by-moment, making the best of today. But the monkey mind steals our today, by jumping into yesterday and tomorrow. We experience

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 9: Tame The Monkey Mind, Make It A Monk, Page 74

Q: What is the state of Samadhi?

A: What is that state where one has completely eliminated the mind? Some people call it Samadhi. It is a state of Divine Consciousness, a state where the intellect is firmly established. There are positive thoughts and there is no sight of the mind. Negative thoughts are discriminated and eliminated. But Samadhi is possible only when we develop the art of enjoying silence. It starts with meditation and contemplation but ultimately, one is in meditateness in every moment that they are awake.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 11: Eliminate The Mind, Page 89

Q: What is the result of becoming a SatChitAnanda Atman?

A: It is only when we are in Consciousness that we realize the truth of life. We realize that the mind is our enemy. We become aware of our intellect, as we overcome all misery and sorrow. One who lives in SatChitAnanda, in Truth Consciousness Bliss, must finally pass the penultimate step, the 11th step, before being able to live as a SatChitAnanda Atman, a peaceful, blissful Soul in Truth Consciousness.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 10: Live In SatChitAnanda, Page 82

THE INTELLECT & DISCRIMINATION

Q: What is the special gift that allows humans to discriminate?

A: We human beings are blessed with a very special tool. It is called the intellect. While we have so many blessings like eyes to see, ears to hear, a tongue to taste and a nose to smell, the most precious gift is the ability to determine what is black and what is white, what is wrong and what is right. No other species has this gift. Dogs and cats may have an instinct, by which they live but they can't discriminate and choose. It is only a human being who can contemplate and discriminate.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 5: Activate The Intellect, The Tool Of Discrimination, Page 39

Q: What constitutes the "inner instrument" of a human being?

A: Just like we seem to have a mind, which is a part of the human computer's software, our subtle body is known as the inner instrument. It consists of the mind, memory, ego and intellect. None of these are physical or tangible. So, they are considered to be a part of the subtle body. They exist but without any physical identity.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 5: Activate The Intellect, The Tool Of Discrimination, Page 39

Q: What is the primary function of the intellect?

A: So, the intellect, another aspect of our subtle existence is a faculty of discrimination. It helps us to discriminate between the truth and the myth, reality and illusion, between this and that. Not only does it help us discriminate but it also creates willpower, the power to choose. When the intellect is active, we can live in Consciousness, without giving the illusory mind, space to dominate and discriminate. Within each one of us, we can hear two voices – one voice is that of the rascal mind that makes us blind. The second voice is the voice of the intellect, which makes us discriminate and select.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 5: Activate The Intellect, The Tool Of Discrimination, Page 40

Q: How does the manager of our "thought factory" determine what we think?

A: Our mind is like a thought factory. It is constantly producing thoughts. What kind of thoughts do we produce? It depends on who the manager of this thought factory is. If the thought factory is managed by the mind, it will constantly produce negative thoughts but if the manager of the thought factory is the intellect, it will eliminate the mind and produce only positive thoughts.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 5: Activate The Intellect, The Tool Of Discrimination, Page 41

Q: What is the relationship between the mind and Consciousness?

A: One of the two possibilities exists. Either we live as the mind or we still the mind, we kill the mind and we live in Consciousness. Most of the time, we are constantly moving from mind to Consciousness and then, back to the mind. We must remember that just like when the day comes, the night goes and when the night comes, the day goes, so also, when the mind appears, Consciousness disappears. Our challenge is to be firmly in Consciousness, so that the mind disappears for good. In Consciousness, we cannot find the mind. The mind is a bundle of negative thoughts. But in Consciousness, there are no bundles of thoughts. There is stillness, Awareness and Mindfulness. There is no mind!

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 4: Flip Over To The State Of Consciousness, Page 35

Q: Can the mind and the intellect be active at the same time?

A: Therefore, we have a choice. We can activate the intellect as we disable the mind or we can let the mind be activated and let our intellect be disabled. What should we choose? Of course, we must choose the intellect. But then why do we choose the mind? Because we are in the mind state. We are not in the state of Consciousness. The trick is to flip over from mind to Consciousness, to activate the intellect and disable the mind. Then, peace, we will find!

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 5: Activate The Intellect, The Tool Of Discrimination, Page 41

Q: How do we begin to block the mind?

A: The way to block the mind and stop it from pushing our peace behind is to still the mind. Silence and meditation are some of the ways to still the mind. Unfortunately, we are unable to block the mind because we are ever ready to listen to what the mind has to say. In rotten thoughts we are caught as the mind continues to drill us and kill us. The mind is not just one or two thoughts. It is a bundle of about 50,000 toxic thoughts that gush like lava flowing from an erupting volcano.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 6: Lock The Mind, Page 45

Q: What is the process for locking the mind?

A: The only way to find peace is by making toxic thoughts cease. The way to do it is to lock the mind. The only instrument that can lock the mind is the intellect and the intellect cannot be activated other than in Consciousness. Therefore, we must consciously lock the mind through the intellect to find peace. If the door of our life is not locked by the intellect in Consciousness, the mind, having no courtesy or decency to knock, will just rush in and gush in with its toxic thoughts. But if the door is locked, there will be peace within. We become the master. Therefore, if we want to find peace, we must consciously lock the door of our head to stop the mind from entering.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 6: Lock The Mind, Page 48

Q: What does it mean to be a Sthitpragya?

A: The word 'Sthitpragya', indicates a steady intellect, a state of unwavering Consciousness, where the intellect is in command. There is no sign of the mind, as we make it resign from our life. Only thoughts appear and that too, submissively. Erstwhile, rotten thoughts would attack us and pour like rain and we would be miserable again and again. But as a Sthitpragya, the steady intellect is locked and one remains in Consciousness. When there is Consciousness, there is no mind. When the intellect is in charge, toxic thoughts of the mind are totally discharged.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 6: Lock The Mind, Page 46

Q: How does constant discrimination lead to a peaceful life?

A: One who lives a life of peace and tranquillity, lives a life of constant discrimination. There is no kneejerk reaction. One does not impulsively react. Every action is performed with conscious thoughts and feelings, controlled by the intellect. Some people are carried away by the heart. And because they don't use their head, peace is dead. Those who live with Eternal Peace, discriminate each thought and eliminate all negative thoughts. Black or white, wrong or right,

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 6: Lock The Mind, Page 50

Q: Will all thoughts stop once the intellect is in control?

A: What happens when we flip over from mind to Consciousness? What happens when we move from the mind's control to the intellect's control? Will there be no thoughts? Beware! The mind fools us into believing that thoughts will never stop. Sure, there will be a few thoughts that enter our intellect but there will be no mind. The mind attacks us as a bundle of toxic thoughts. But when we activate our intellect, our mind is locked outside our head. Thoughts then don't pour like rain. They don't attack us and push us down the drain, making us miserable, again and again.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 5: Activate The Intellect, The Tool Of Discrimination, Page 42

Q: What metaphor is used for how the intellect stops the mind's thoughts?

A: If we want to enjoy every moment of life with peace, love and bliss, we need to do this. We need to build a dam. A dam that blocks the river of the mind, a river of toxic thoughts that flows with about 50,000 gallons of poisonous thoughts, every day. When we stop the mind, there is no river of negativity, there are no toxic thoughts. We shut the door and live like a monk as we eliminate the junk of the mind by using the intellect to build this dam, to block the mind and lock the mind.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 5: Activate The Intellect, The Tool Of Discrimination, Page 41

Q: Summarize the role of the intellect in finding peace.

A: To find peace, there are steps twelve / Let us begin our Quest; into it, let's delve / ... / The fifth step is the Intellect, to activate / Then, every Thought, we will be able to discriminate / The Intellect knows what is black and white / It will discriminate between Thoughts that are wrong and right / But without Consciousness, the Intellect cannot shine / The Mind will intoxicate us and make us whine / The Intellect, once active, will stop the river of Thought / We will experience Peace, not in stress, we'll be caught / Then, the Mind, the Intellect will block / And stopping the gushing Thoughts, the Mind it will lock

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Poem: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Page 100

Q: What is the permanent solution for dealing with the mind?

A: To eliminate the mind, we have already discovered that the intellect must be activated. It must lock the mind and block the mind. But for how long will the intellect go on blocking and

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 11: Eliminate The Mind, Page 86

Q: How should the intellect handle an incoming toxic thought?

A: Whenever a toxic thought enters, what must we do? We must stop it, crop it, chop it and drop it. This is done by the intellect, provided we are in Consciousness, not in the state of mind. Then the thought factory will produce only positive thoughts. This ability to be able to control thoughts will seem like a fantasy for those whose head is filled with NEP, Negative Energy Poison. But little do they realize that there is hope. If they eliminate the dope of the mind, they can cope.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 8: Flip Over From Negative To Positive, Page 66

THE EGO

Q: What is the relationship between the mind and the ego?

A: It creates the ego that says 'I' and makes us suffer till we die. It's time to find the mind! What is the mind? We confuse the mind with thoughts. Thoughts may be positive or negative but the mind is primarily a bundle of toxic thoughts that becomes the MK-50, the Mind-Killer-50. It can create up to 50 miserable thoughts every minute. This can amount to a whopping 50,000 toxic thoughts every day. No wonder the mind has such a profound influence on our lives.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 2: Try To Find The Mind Which You Cannot Find!, Page 16

Q: How does the mind influence the false ego?

A: The mind also ignites the ignorance of the false ego and with it, creates 7 more monsters that cause agony and anguish. It is the mind that makes us think, 'I am 'I'. I will die.' The false ego is a product of the mind. The ego, in reality, is just an identity of our existence. Without the mind, it can be peaceful and not cause us any pain. But because of the mind, we experience the Mind and Ego as ME and we are not free from misery.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 7: Overcome The 14 Miseries Of Life, Page 54

Q: What kind of negative emotions are produced by the ego?

A: What are the monsters caused by the ego? Surely, we have all met these monsters in our life. They are anger, hate, revenge and jealousy, pride, greed and selfishness. It is because of the ignorance of the ego that we believe, 'I am this body.' It is our foolishness that we believe that

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 7: Overcome The 14 Miseries Of Life, Page 55

Q: Why do we feel things like hate and jealousy towards others?

A: We live with hate and jealousy only because we believe that we are different from each other. This conditioning is right from school and so, we remain a fool. However, if we eliminate the mind and its toxic thoughts, the ego in Consciousness, can be Enlightened. We can realize that we are not the body that will die, we are not the mind that we cannot find, we are the Divine Soul. When we achieve this goal, as we still the mind, then Eternal Peace, we will find.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 7: Overcome The 14 Miseries Of Life, Page 55

Q: How does the "Mind and Ego" (ME) affect our Karma?

A: As long as the mind and ego exist, we are bound by the Law of Karma. Our twin Karma, the one we brought to earth and the one we did after our birth, together unfold as everything that happens in life. So, there is pleasure and pain, loss and gain. But when we realize, 'I am the Divine Soul, not the Mind and Ego, ME,' we stop creating Karma. Not just that but all our Karma drops and disappears from our Karmic account because of the Realization that I am not the doer of Karma.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 12: Live As The Divine Soul, Page 92

Q: Can we ever be free from our ego?

A: The ego will remain with us from our first breath till our death. For it to be Enlightened, we have to kill the mind. Once we eliminate the mind and Enlighten the ego, we will be free from these 14 miseries of life, the 7 miseries of the mind and the 7 monsters of the ego. The result is peace. As long as we live with the mind and ego, we cannot experience peace, love and bliss, the very essence of our Happiness.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 7: Overcome The 14 Miseries Of Life, Page 56

Q: Is it truly possible to eliminate the mind?

A: The 11th step to finding peace of mind is to eliminate the mind, destroy it, removing it from our life and decimating it, so that it can never return. Is that possible? The good news is that yes, it is possible! By now, we should be absolutely clear that the mind does not really exist. It only appears to be and it causes misery. The truth is that it is just a bundle of rotten thoughts.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 11: Eliminate The Mind, Page 84

Q: How can I tell when I am in a "state of mind" versus a state of peace?

A: It is the mind's play that creates a storm in our head. Thoughts pour like rain. They drill us and kill us. Sometimes, it is the same thought causing fear and at other times, it may be different toxic thoughts creating worry and stress. When our life is a mess, it is the mind that is causing this unhappiness. Therefore, to become aware of the mind is not so difficult. When the mind appears, peace disappears.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 3: Still The Mind And Kill The Mind, Page 23

Q: What causes the ego to become angry or jealous?

A: As long as the mind is alive and it fills us with toxic thoughts, the false ego prevails. We want to be the best, the richest, the first, the most famous, the happiest and this causes our ego to become angry, jealous, to hate and take revenge, as we are rooted in pride, greed and selfishness. The truth is that all the 7 monsters are caused only because of the false ego, which is created due to the poisonous thoughts of the mind.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 7: Overcome The 14 Miseries Of Life, Page 56

Q: How does the "monkey mind" affect our daily moods?

A: The way to live a life of a good mood is the way of the monk, not the monkey. The monk is peace whereas, the monkey is anxiety. Have you seen the monkey jumping from branch to branch and tree to tree? So does the mind jump. It jumps to a yesterday that is gone. Then, it jumps to a tomorrow, not yet born. It swings like a pendulum. It never stops.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 9: Tame The Monkey Mind, Make It A Monk, Page 73

Q: What does it mean to have an "Enlightened Ego"?

A: When we realize that I am not the body, I am not the mind, then first, the ego is Enlightened. 'I am not this. I am that.' However, the mind, which is nothing but a bundle of toxic thoughts, will continue to attack us, till we completely eliminate it. With an Enlightened Ego, which will remain with us till our last breath, we will eliminate the mind. When there is no mind and the ego is Enlightened, we transcend ME, the Mind and Ego and live as the Divine Soul.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 12: Live As The Divine Soul, Page 92

Q: How can we begin to destroy the "rascal mind"?

A: We should be mindful of the rascal mind — a mind that does not knock at our door. It enters uninvited only to create more misery and sorrow. The moment we become aware that the mind has arrived, we move into a mind state from a state of Consciousness. We lose awareness of life as the toxic thoughts of the mind overtake us, just as how dark clouds shadow a beautiful bright blue sky. Once we become aware of the mind, we can find ways to destroy it and eliminate it.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 2: Try To Find The Mind Which You Cannot Find!, Page 18

Q: Why is the combination of the Mind and Ego (ME) so destructive?

A: If one calmly reflects on one's misery and sorrow, the truth will surface that most of it is caused by the Mind and Ego, ME. These two are the principal reasons for all our miseries. The ego will remain with us from our first breath till our death. For it to be Enlightened, we have to kill the mind. Once we eliminate the mind and Enlighten the ego, we will be free from these 14 miseries of life, the 7 miseries of the mind and the 7 monsters of the ego.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 7: Overcome The 14 Miseries Of Life, Page 56

Q: What is the permanent solution for dealing with the mind?

A: The solution lies in the Realization of the Truth that there is no mind. The solution lies in being in Consciousness and not letting toxic thoughts accumulate into being the mind. The solution lies in eliminating the mind completely, so that the intellect becomes the boss, living with the conscious Realization of the mind's existence. The intellect that is now the master has to deal only with thoughts. The intellect will not let the thoughts become the mind.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 11: Eliminate The Mind, Page 86

Q: Is it possible for the mind to be our friend and help us achieve success?

A: Those who have made their mind their best friend, do not want to let go of the mind. They even talk about being friends with the mind. They discuss how they use the mind to achieve success. You can't! The mind is our biggest enemy. Its job is to rob us of our peace and our Happiness. Until we reach the state of 'no mind', we will never reach the state of Consciousness, where we discriminate using our intelligence and make the right decisions.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 4: Flip Over To The State Of Consciousness, Page 34

HAPPINESS & BLISS (SATCHITANANDA)

Q: What is SatChitAnanda and how does one reach this state?

A: Having crossed 9 steps to find peace of mind, we finally reach the tenth step, a state of Eternal Bliss, Everlasting Peace called SatChitAnanda — a state of Eternal Bliss living in Truth Consciousness. Of course, we must move from mind to Consciousness as we kill the mind and overcome ignorance. Thereafter, we have to lock the mind and activate the intellect. Unless the monkey mind becomes a monk, it is not possible to reach step 10 and live in SatChitAnanda. How can we do this?

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 10: Live In SatChitAnanda, Page 77

Q: What is the relationship between Truth, Consciousness, and Bliss?

A: The most important principle of SatChitAnanda is Sat or the truth. The mind is trying to manipulate us with the myth. This can happen only if we lose Consciousness and deactivate our intellect. As long as we are in Consciousness, we can't fail. But we must not just live in Chit or Consciousness, we must also live with Sat or truth. When there is SatChit or Truth Consciousness, we can enjoy Ananda, a state of Eternal Bliss that emanates from peace. If the foundation of our Sat or truth is weak, the mind can bulldoze us as it will overtake our intellect and our Consciousness.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 10: Live In SatChitAnanda, Page 77

Q: What is Ananda and why is it so rare to experience?

A: Once we have reached this far, where we are locked in SatChit, we can enjoy Ananda, that state of Eternal Bliss which is built on the foundation of peace. We can enjoy SatChitAnanda, as long as we are locked in SatChit. This state of Ananda is experienced by very few. It is the highest state of bliss. Unfortunately, to realize this, we need to go through the 10 steps to discover true peace. Otherwise, we cannot evolve to a state of living with Eternal Bliss in Truth Consciousness.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 10: Live In SatChitAnanda, Page 78

Q: How do pleasure, peace, and purpose differ in the search for happiness?

A: I realized that far more important than pleasure were peace and purpose in life. Contentment gives peace but unless we discover our true purpose, 'Who am I? Why am I here?' we will never reach that state of Eternal Happiness, which requires us to be established in Truth Consciousness.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, AFTERWORD, Page 96

Q: What does it mean to live as a manifestation of the Divine?

A: To live a life of Eternal Peace, Divine Love and Everlasting Bliss, the ultimate challenge is to be firmly established in the truth of, 'Who am I? I am not 'I'. I will never die. I am the Divine Soul.' When we achieve this goal, we live as a manifestation of the Divine. We live as a Divine instrument. We accept everything without protest. We surrender completely without wonder. We do our best and surrender the rest, realizing that we are nothing, we do nothing. The Divine is in charge. The Supreme controls everything and so, living as a Divine manifestation, every moment of our life becomes a Divine celebration!

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 12: Live As The Divine Soul, Page 94

Q: How do contentment and fulfillment lead to peace?

A: What is the secret of peace? As long as we are like a monkey, running after success and achievement, we will enjoy only pleasure. For peace, we must take an exit from the highway of

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 9: Tame The Monkey Mind, Make It A Monk, Page 72

Q: How can one distinguish between fulfilling earthly needs and greed?

A: We all need to fulfil our needs. Who doesn't? Therefore, we must work and earn. But there is a difference between need and greed. A monk fulfils his need. But the monkey mind lives with greed. Have you ever tried offering a banana to a monkey? If you are holding 4 bananas in your hand, chances are that the monkey will attack you and snatch all the bananas from you. Such is the character of a monkey.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 9: Tame The Monkey Mind, Make It A Monk, Page 71

Q: How does one achieve "Truth Consciousness Bliss"?

A: SatChitAnanda is a Divine state, an elevated state of peace. It is transcending the mind and Enlightening the ego. It is being in Consciousness of, 'Who am I? I am not the body that will die. I am not the Mind and Ego, ME. I am the Divine Soul.' Reaching this state of Truth Consciousness Bliss means one can be established in life with peace, love and bliss. But it is not an easy journey.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 10: Live In SatChitAnanda, Page 81

Q: What happens to the soul after it finds eternal peace?

A: The body will die but we will overcome all fear of death because we will be firmly conscious that we are the immortal Soul. We are neither born nor do we die. We discover the truth of, 'Who am I?' We are not the body. It's the actor. We are not the mind and ego, the illusory director. We are the Divine Soul. We are part of the Creator. The Soul emanates the emotions of peace, love and bliss. In that moment, when the body dies, the Soul is liberated and united with the Supreme Immortal Power, SIP, that we all call, God. There is no returning to earth in a rebirth.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 12: Live As The Divine Soul, Page 93

Q: How can stillness and contentment heal the mind?

A: The simple way to overcome mental illness is stillness. Psychiatrists and psychologists prescribe meditation and silence. But the truly awakened ones add contentment and fulfillment to the prescription. Unless we learn to count our blessings, the mind will not be still. Toxic

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 3: Still The Mind And Kill The Mind, Page 27

Q: What is a "SatChitAnanda Atman"?

A: One who lives in SatChitAnanda, in Truth Consciousness Bliss, must finally pass the penultimate step, the 11th step, before being able to live as a SatChitAnanda Atman, a peaceful, blissful Soul in Truth Consciousness.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 10: Live In SatChitAnanda, Page 82

Q: Is it possible to remain a monk once the monkey mind is tamed?

A: In the journey of life, peace of mind is the most difficult thing to find, all because of the monkey mind. But the mind is something that you cannot find. If we follow all the steps and reach step 9, where we tame the monkey mind and make it a monk, there will be no monkey left. It is the monkey that becomes a monk. So also, it is the monk that becomes the monkey. It is our choice.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 9: Tame The Monkey Mind, Make It A Monk, Page 74

Q: How do the mind and intellect battle within our consciousness?

A: It is only when we eliminate the mind, we destroy it, that we can reach the state of Consciousness, in which this special gift, this precious tool of the intellect can be activated. . . When the intellect is active, we can live in Consciousness, without giving the illusory mind, space to dominate and discriminate. Within each one of us, we can hear two voices – one voice is that of the rascal mind that makes us blind. The second voice is the voice of the intellect, which makes us discriminate and select.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 5: Activate The Intellect, The Tool Of Discrimination, Page 39

Q: Can the mind still attack someone who has reached SatChitAnanda?

A: When we reach the state of SatChitAnanda, we are already enjoying peace and bliss. But there is a danger that the mind can still attack us. The mind has an armour of weapons that it uses to enter our Consciousness and then, blocks our intellect. . . Therefore, being in SatChitAnanda means that we must beware of the mind and how it can attack us with up to 50 toxic thoughts a minute, thoughts that can drill us and kill us!

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 10: Live In SatChitAnanda, Page 80

Q: What are the final realizations of the 12-step journey to find peace?

A: We can either activate our Intellect, our most precious tool. Or let the Mind be in command and we can remain a fool! ... You can tame your monkey mind and make it a monk. Or let anxiety rob you of your peace, as you fill your head with junk! . . SatChitAnanda is Truth Consciousness Bliss. It is Eternal Peace, as we are locked in Truth Consciousness.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 5: Activate The Intellect, The Tool Of Discrimination, Page 43

THE SOUL & ENLIGHTENMENT

Q: How does the author define the ego and its role in our suffering?

A: What is the ego, in reality? The ego, in reality, is just an identity of our existence. Without the mind, it can be peaceful and not cause us any pain. But because of the mind, we experience the Mind and Ego as ME and we are not free from misery. Therefore, one has to work to Enlighten the ego, to Realize the Truth, 'Who am I?' to experience that state of Eternal Bliss, which comes when we still the mind and live in Consciousness with the intellect.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 7: Overcome The 14 Miseries Of Life, Page 54

Q: What happens when we enlighten the ego?

A: However, if we eliminate the mind and its toxic thoughts, the ego in Consciousness, can be Enlightened. We can realize that we are not the body that will die, we are not the mind that we cannot find, we are the Divine Soul. When we achieve this goal, as we still the mind, then Eternal Peace, we will find.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 7: Overcome The 14 Miseries Of Life, Page 55

Q: What truth does the intellect realize when the mind is eliminated?

A: The truth is that all the 7 monsters are caused only because of the false ego, which is created due to the poisonous thoughts of the mind. When we eliminate the mind and its toxic thoughts, we get into the state of Consciousness. The intellect discriminates and realizes that I am not this body that will, one day, die. Nothing is mine. I came with nothing and I will go with nothing. I am not this body, which is just a costume I wear. I am the Divine Soul, that Spark Of Unique Life. We achieve this goal of the Enlightened Ego only when we still and kill the mind.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 7: Overcome The 14 Miseries Of Life, Page 57

Q: What is the state of SatChitAnanda?

A: SatChitAnanda is a Divine state, an elevated state of peace. It is transcending the mind and Enlightening the ego. It is being in Consciousness of, 'Who am I? I am not the body that will die. I am not the Mind and Ego, ME. I am the Divine Soul.' Reaching this state of Truth Consciousness Bliss means one can be established in life with peace, love and bliss.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 10: Live In SatChitAnanda, Page 81

Q: What does it mean to realize we are manifestations of the Divine?

A: In the flash of SatChit, we will overcome the triple suffering that most mortals experience. We will reach a state of elevation, wherein we will realize that we are manifestations of the Divine. We are the Soul and the Soul is SIP. We are manifestations of God. What greater joy can we know or experience than living in this state of peace, love and bliss?

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 10: Live In SatChitAnanda, Page 79

Q: How does filling consciousness with positive emotions affect the mind?

A: Doing this, we will actually destroy the mind and its negative power over us. The more we feed PEP into our Consciousness, the weaker we make the mind. If our Consciousness is full of positive emotions, we would have succeeded in killing and eliminating the mind, the illusory rascal from our life. But for this, we must be unstoppable in choosing positive emotions and creating positive thoughts.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 8: Flip Over From Negative To Positive, Page 64

Q: What is the significance of taming the "monkey mind"?

A: To find peace of mind, we must first eliminate all the toxic junk and make our monkey mind, a monk! The mind is a monkey. It is constantly jumping into a yesterday that is gone and a tomorrow, not yet born. It creates fear, worry, and stress and makes our life a mess! Unless we make the monkey, a monk, our peace will be shattered into pieces and anxiety will replace our tranquillity.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 9: Tame The Monkey Mind, Make It A Monk, Page 69

Q: How does a person experience Divine Peace?

A: We experience Eternal Peace as all miseries cease. We live as a Yogi in Yoga, in union with the Divine, realizing that we are none other than the Supreme Immortal Power, SIP. This is Divine Peace.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 12: Live As The Divine Soul, Page 92

Q: How does realizing we are the Soul affect our Karma?

A: One who realizes, 'I am not the body, mind and ego, I am the Divine Soul,' will never blink and sink in the toxic thoughts of the mind as the mind no more exists! ... When we realize, 'I am the Divine Soul, not the Mind and Ego, ME,' we stop creating Karma. Not just that but all our Karma drops and disappears from our Karmic account because of the Realization that I am not the doer of Karma. I am the Power of the Soul.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 12: Live As The Divine Soul, Page 92

Q: Does the Soul suffer when the body is in pain?

A: The one who crosses the 12 steps to find peace of mind, enjoys the state of Eternal Bliss because he realizes that the body may suffer but he is not the one who suffers. He is the Divine Soul. Although the body may experience pain, there is no suffering because the awakened one converts the pain into poetry. Such a person is filled with energy to bear the pain. With the Realization that I am not the one who suffers, comes peace.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 12: Live As The Divine Soul, Page 93

Q: What happens to the Soul after the death of the body?

A: The body will die but we will overcome all fear of death because we will be firmly conscious that we are the immortal Soul. We are neither born nor do we die. We discover the truth of, 'Who am I?' We are not the body. It's the actor. We are not the mind and ego, the illusory director. We are the Divine Soul. We are part of the Creator. The Soul emanates the emotions of peace, love and bliss. In that moment, when the body dies, the Soul is liberated and united with the Supreme Immortal Power, SIP, that we all call, God. There is no returning to earth in a rebirth.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 12: Live As The Divine Soul, Page 93

Q: What is a SatChitAnanda Atman?

A: One who lives as an Enlightened Soul, Awakened to the Truth, having overcome the ignorance of the mind and ego, experiences the state of Eternal Happiness, living in Truth Consciousness. Such a person becomes a SatChitAnanda Atman, a Divine Soul that experiences peace, love and bliss, living firmly in Truth Consciousness. The mind is not just killed but it is cremated. It has completely been dissolved into nothingness!

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Step 12: Live As The Divine Soul, Page 94

Q: Why is discovering our true purpose essential for eternal happiness?

A: I realized that far more important than pleasure were peace and purpose in life. Contentment gives peace but unless we discover our true purpose, 'Who am I? Why am I here?' we will never reach that state of Eternal Happiness, which requires us to be established in Truth Consciousness.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Afterword, Page 96

Q: How did the author realize they were the Soul rather than the body or mind?

A: I am not this body. I searched for the mind and I discovered that there was no mind. It was just a bundle of toxic thoughts. In that flash, my ego was Enlightened. I am nothing. I am not 'I'. I

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Afterword, Page 97

Q: What is the ultimate goal described in the twelve steps?

A: The twelfth step is to live as the Divine Soul / This is achieving our ultimate goal / Transcending the Mind and Ego that says it's ME / From all misery and stress, we will be free / Not only will be free from all misery on earth / This will free us from the cycle of Rebirth / For where there is no Mind, there we will find Peace / Without the Mind, all miseries and sorrows will cease.

Source: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Poem: 12 Steps To Find Peace Of Mind, Page 103