

LIFE IS NOTHING BUT A MINUTE

Q: What is the greatest secret of life that this book reveals?

A: The greatest discovery is that life is nothing but a minute. We may live a hundred years but we can't live all these years at one time. We live year by year, day by day, and what life actually serves us is a minute and then, another minute. The only way to live life is to live it by the minute. Life is not the 50 million minutes that fill 100 years of a human being's lifespan — it is a journey unfolding minute by minute, each with 60 seconds in it. If we do not use it, we will lose it.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 9 – Life Is Nothing But A Minute | Page: 30–31

Q: What does it mean that life is 'nothing but a minute'?

A: Life is not going to be over in a minute — we are not going to lose our breath. But the only way to live life is in the minute. Every minute, one journey of life is over. The next one starts immediately. To experience whether this is true or not, pause and think — what is your life now? It is about what you are experiencing, what you are doing, and what you are just about to do. It is not about tomorrow. We cannot go before this minute or after this minute. We have got to live in it.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 20 – Is A Minute Too Little To Be 'Life'? | Page: 58–59

Q: How many minutes does a human being have in a lifetime?

A: Life has about 50 million minutes. Each year has 5,25,600 minutes. Each day, every one of us gets exactly 1440 precious minutes. But in reality, we don't have 1440 minutes — we have only one minute and then, another minute. And if we don't live it, if we don't choose it, we will lose it! Each year has half a million minutes, and every two years, we have the opportunity to use one million minutes. When we realize that life is not 100 years but 50 million minutes, life becomes so much more precious.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 8 – We All Get 1440 Minutes Each Day | Page: 27–29

Q: Why did the author write this book about a minute?

A: After writing 100 books over 10 years, the author realized that every page of every book he wrote was written minute by minute. Whatever we do in life, we cannot do it in a minute that is gone or a minute not yet born. We can only do it in the present moment, the now, in which we live. When he was 59 years old, he awakened to the reality that all he had in his hands was one minute — nothing more than one minute! This discovery is not theory — he now lives his life by the minute.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Preface & Afterword | Page: 4, 85–86

Q: Is there any way to escape the minute and live in a different time?

A: No. Nobody in this world can go back to the past. Nobody can go to tomorrow. Still, we wander into the future and the past all the time. Our time in the present moment just does not last. Can any of us escape this minute and go to the next? Can we take a flight to the day after tomorrow? No. No spacecraft can take us into next year because life is unfolding minute by minute. There is no future. There is no tomorrow. There is only today, only now, only the present minute.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 3 – Can We Live In The Future? | Page: 13–14

Q: What is the relationship between a minute and the breath?

A: We take between 12 to 25 breaths in a minute. Can we change that? No, we can't! Just like each breath takes about 3 seconds and we can hold our breath for about 5 seconds, we can't change this natural phenomenon of a breath — so also, we must accept the minute as it unfolds, second by second. The minute is our natural unit of life, just as the breath is our natural unit of living. Accepting the minute and working within it is the key to living life fully.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 9 – Life Is Nothing But A Minute | Page: 32

Q: What is the LIFE acronym and what does it reveal?

A: LIFE is Liberation from Ignorance and Finding Enlightenment. This is the deepest meaning of life. We all think life is the 60 or 80 years that we live, but in reality, life is a journey of discovering who we are, why we are here, and what happens after death. Every minute is an opportunity to progress toward this liberation. If we live minute by minute with awareness and Consciousness, we move steadily from ignorance toward Enlightenment — which is the true purpose of this human existence.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 1 – What Is Life All About? | Page: 8

Q: How do we make the most of the minute?

A: We must take every minute as it unfolds and fill it with cheer, joy, smiles and laughter. We can smile and laugh, we can love and give, we can sing and dance, all in the minute. The trick is to repeat this, minute after minute. Each minute is an opportunity to live our dreams. We can breathe, think, plan, act, love, and create — all within one minute. Life is offering itself to all of us, minute by minute, and if we make the most of each minute, we make the most of life itself.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 1 & Ch. 14 – What Is Life All About? / Fill Each Minute With Cheer And Joy | Page: 10, 44–45

Q: Can we add years to our life or only life to our years?

A: We can't add years to our life but we can add life to our years. Some people are trying to live longer — they have made so much wealth and now they are spending their wealth to regain health. But ultimately, everybody has to die. The challenge is to live before one dies. Who lives a better life? Is it the one who lives till 40 but spends every year with cheer and joy, or the one who lives till 80 but spends all his time complaining? Life is not about the number of years. It is about the quality of each minute.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 6 – Life Is Not The Number Of Years We Are Alive | Page: 22–23

Q: What is the minute trying to tell us, minute after minute?

A: The minute seems to be telling us — Here I am, your next 60 seconds! I am your life. How are you going to live me? The minutes are asking us, minute after minute, how we are choosing to live. Life is going by — it is like a flowing river. We can't stop the flow. Nobody in this world can build a dam on the river of life. Therefore, if the minute is gone, the day is gone, weeks will be gone and so will months and years. Ultimately, life will be gone! We must grab the minute and live it.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 19 – Is There Any Other Way To Live Life? | Page: 55–56

Q: What happens to a person who realizes that life is nothing but a minute?

A: When I discovered the simple Happiness trick to pick a minute and live it and then another minute and another minute, I had total command over life. This discovery made the author the happiest man in the world because in the minute, he eliminates the mind — and with it goes away all fear, worry, stress and anxiety. He doesn't let the minute entertain regret, shame and guilt. Each minute becomes so beautiful, so peaceful and blissful, cheerful and playful. This is what living truly feels like.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Afterword | Page: 86

Q: What is meant by Carpe Diem in the context of the minute?

A: Carpe Diem means to make the best of the present moment — literally, to seize the day. But how can you seize the day without seizing the minute? We can only seize the minute if we live in it, if we make use of the 60 seconds that are in it. This is the real meaning of Carpe Diem — to seize the day, to seize life. Life is a beautiful journey provided it is not wasted. Those who are picking each minute and living it are the ones who are making the most of life. We must seize the minute!

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 17 – To Seize Life, Seize The Minute | Page: 50–51

Q: Why does the author say 'life is not the number of years we are alive'?

A: Of what use is life if we live up to 100 years but each year we drag through life and are miserable and unhappy? Such a life is meaningless. Therefore, life is not about the number of years we are alive. Instead of focusing on the number of years we will be alive and living more, our focus must be on the present minute, adding peace, love and bliss in each minute that we live. We must live with motivation and inspiration, not desperation and depression. Life is nothing but a minute — this minute.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 6 – Life Is Not The Number Of Years We Are Alive | Page: 22–23

Q: What does it mean to 'use the minute or lose the minute'?

A: Each minute is ours. We can use it or lose it. We can't save it to use later. We can fill it with peace, love and bliss or let unhappiness fill every minute. The minute won't wait for us — the clock keeps ticking, whether we are awake, sleeping, walking, talking, flying or driving. If we don't live it, if we don't choose it, we will lose it! And by losing the minute, we are, bit by bit, losing life itself. Each minute is like a priceless diamond — treasure it, don't waste it.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 13 – Each Minute Is So Precious | Page: 41–43

Q: What is the author's personal journey of discovering the minute?

A: For 25 years, the author ran like a mad man pursuing achievement. Then one day, he stopped. He decided to pause and find the cause of his existence. He was Awakened and realized the truth of life. He first discovered how to live in day-tight compartments and how to live each day as a new life. Eventually, he discovered the even deeper truth: life is nothing but a minute. He realized he could not live life all in one go — just as you cannot eat an elephant in one bite, you live life minute by minute.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Afterword | Page: 85–86

Q: Why is a minute like a boat in the river of life?

A: The minute is the boat that we are in. But the boat will only last 60 seconds. Then, we will change the boat virtually — a new boat will appear. If we are not alert and aware that we must be in the minute, in the boat, in the river of life, several minutes will pass, several days will pass and we will not be able to enjoy the river of life. It's time that we become conscious of the boat that we are in. We must become aware of this precious minute which is nothing but life itself.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 11 – If We Don't Live The Minute, We Lose Life! | Page: 37

THE PRESENT MOMENT

Q: What is the present moment and why is it all we truly have?

A: Life is happening now. The present moment is the only reality. Yesterday is history — the past is gone. Tomorrow is a mystery — the future is not yet born. There is only today, only now, only the present minute. Each minute is a gift, the present minute. That's all we have! The past minute doesn't belong to us — it is just a memory. The future minute does not exist — it only exists in our imagination. The present minute is our one and only opportunity to truly live.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 7 – Life Is About The Present Moment | Page: 24–26

Q: Why do we know the present is important but still fail to live in it?

A: What is so great about the discovery that life is about the present moment? Don't we all know it? Of course, we do! But are we all living in the moment? No, we are not! We are living in our yesterdays and our tomorrows. We are destroying the present moment with something that we regret, something that we are ashamed of, or some guilt that we cannot change. We know we can do nothing about tomorrow or next week or next year — but are we not worrying about them? Knowing and living are two different things.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 7 – Life Is About The Present Moment | Page: 25

Q: What is the difference between living the present moment and living the present minute?

A: Life is about the present moment, this moment. But this moment doesn't last — it goes by! So, we cannot capture the moment, but we can capture the minute. A minute has 60 seconds in it. We can live it the way we want to. We can do what we want to. We can think and act. We can plan and execute. A minute is a long time — if we are conscious of it. If we let the mind distract us, the minute will fly, hours will pass by and we won't even know it but life will be gone.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 7 – Life Is About The Present Moment | Page: 24

Q: Why is the present minute the only guarantee we have?

A: We tend to exchange our present moment of joy for future Happiness. This is the most foolish thing that we can do because tomorrow is not guaranteed but today is. We have no control over what is going to happen next week, next month or next year, but we have complete control over the present minute. Then why do we lose it thinking of the minutes that are yet to come? The present minute is in our hands. It belongs to us. It is the only unit of life over which we have true authority.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 3 – Can We Live In The Future? | Page: 13

Q: What happens to life if we don't live in the present moment?

A: If we are not mindful of the minute that is passing, we will not be aware of life that is unfolding and we will fail to live in Consciousness. The present moment is gone and life escapes us. Before we realize it, not just minutes but hours are gone, days are gone! In fact, years are gone. When we realize that life is not made up of 100 years but rather 50 million minutes, life becomes so much more precious. Each minute is an opportunity — but if we let the year pass, we lose 5,25,600 minutes.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 7 – Life Is About The Present Moment | Page: 25–26

Q: How can we learn to live in day-tight compartments?

A: If we truly want to live life, we must live in a day-tight compartment. We must not live in yesterday or tomorrow — they don't exist. The past is gone, the future is not born. But today exists. Today is LIVE! It is happening. Life is throbbing. Therefore, the first challenge is to live in today. Then we must narrow even further — to the minute. Living in day-tight compartments and then in minute-tight compartments is the art of living life fully, without the mind dragging us into past or future.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 7 – Life Is About The Present Moment | Page: 24

Q: What is the treasure that is hidden in the present minute?

A: A minute is so precious — it has 60 seconds in it. Try this simple exercise: look at the clock and stop doing anything for the next 60 seconds. You will realize how long a minute is. You will discover the treasure that a minute is, and you will learn to start living in it. Each minute is a unit of Happiness. Each minute is an opportunity. Each minute can be converted into joy, peace and bliss. But most of us have never paused to discover this treasure — because the mind never lets us be still.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Introduction | Page: 7

Q: What is the 'Tomorrow Never Comes' principle?

A: Haven't we all heard this sometime in life — 'Tomorrow never comes because when tomorrow comes, it will be today'? There is no tomorrow. It is only in our imagination. We can't go to the next minute now because that minute doesn't exist. It will only appear as the present minute.

This profound truth liberates us from the trap of postponing our Happiness to a tomorrow that never arrives. Today is the day. Now is the time. This minute is life. Everything we want to experience must be experienced now.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 10 – Can We Go Before Or Go After The Minute? | Page: 33–34

Q: Why is now the right time to start living in the present minute?

A: We can't do anything about the millions of minutes that have gone by but we can treasure every minute from now on. We can make each minute so precious that we don't waste it, we don't lose it! Let us resolve to live each minute as though it is a priceless diamond. It is an opportunity to fill the minute with peace, love and bliss. If we don't do this, the precious minute will escape us and be gone, never to return! Each minute is ours. The time to start is this minute — not next week.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 13 – Each Minute Is So Precious | Page: 43

Q: How does the present minute relate to our happiness?

A: Each minute is a unit of Happiness. Happiness exists in the minute. Not in yesterday's joys that are now just memories, nor in tomorrow's pleasures that are still imaginary. The only place where we can actually be happy is right here, in this minute. Those who learn the trick that pleasure is in the minute learn to pull Happiness triggers. They make a list of what makes them happy and every time they want to be happy, they pull a trigger. The number of minutes we fill with joy will decide how happy we are.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 22 – Pleasure Is In The Minute | Page: 62–63

Q: What does the author mean when he says 'the minute is waiting for you'?

A: Every 60 seconds brings a new minute. The minute is waiting for us. It seems to be telling us: Here I am, your next 60 seconds! I am your life. How are you going to live me? The minutes are asking us, minute after minute, how we are choosing to live. But there is a thief that can rob our minute — it is the mind. It will stop us from living life in the minute. If we don't still it and kill it, it will kill the minute, destroy the day, and capture our life. The minute waits; the mind steals.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 19 – Is There Any Other Way To Live Life? | Page: 55–57

Q: Why is the present minute like a sunrise that won't wait?

A: Life has been designed in such a manner that the opportunity of life is just like a beautiful sunrise — it is there for a short while and then, it is gone. Those who miss the sunrise cannot see it again, no matter how much they want to. Similarly, every minute offers a unique opportunity. Once it is gone, it is gone forever. We must never waste our minutes because doing that is wasting life itself. Life won't wait! It will cease — and those who are picking each minute and living it make the most of life.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 19 – Is There Any Other Way To Live Life? | Page: 57

Q: What is the difference between consuming minutes and living minutes?

A: We can make the most of the minute or we can just consume it. But it will not wait for us. What we do in each minute becomes our life. Whether we are cheerful in the minute or fill it with misery and strife, the fact of life is that it is happening minute by minute. Many people kill time without realizing that life is precious. Those who kill time haven't truly discovered that this precious life is priceless. Don't kill time — live the minute! There is a fundamental difference between consuming life and truly living it.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 9 – Life Is Nothing But A Minute | Page: 32

Q: How does the metaphor of 'life made of grains of sand' help us understand the minute?

A: Life may appear to be a humongous life, just like a desert appears to be with millions of grains of sand. Grain by grain, if the grains are removed, will the desert still be there? Of course not. So also, life without minutes is nothing! If the minute is gone, the day is gone and our life is gone with it. Each minute is like a grain of sand — individually small, collectively forming the entire desert of life. We must seize the day by seizing every minute. Otherwise, our life would be gone with it!

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 17 – To Seize Life, Seize The Minute | Page: 50

THE MIND — THE THIEF OF THE MINUTE

Q: How does the mind steal the present minute from us?

A: There is a thief that can rob our minute — it is the mind. It will stop us from living life in the minute. The mind is nothing but a bundle of toxic thoughts. Is it round or square? Big or small? Pink or grey? Nobody knows because nobody has seen the mind. Yet, it swings like a pendulum, taking us away from the now. It is the thief stealing the present moment. Unless we eliminate the mind, it will continue to jump like a monkey into yesterday and tomorrow, creating misery and sorrow.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 4 & Ch. 19 – Who Takes Us To Yesterday And Tomorrow? / Is There Any Other Way? | Page: 15, 57

Q: What is the MIND acronym and what does it reveal?

A: The MIND is nothing but Misery, Ignorance, Negativity and Desire. When we live in the mind state, what happens to the minute? The minute is lost in cravings and passion. Hours disappear in ignorance. The day passes in negativity and our life becomes miserable. If we have to eliminate the mind, we have to do it in the minute. In a minute, the mind appears. If we are able to still it and kill it in the minute, then we live our minute in Consciousness. This is the secret to taking back life from the mind.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 26 – Live Each Minute In Consciousness | Page: 73

Q: Why does the mind always want to pull us out of the present minute?

A: The mind does not want us to focus and concentrate. It stops us from Illumination and Realization. It swings like a pendulum, taking us away from the now. The monkey mind jumps to a yesterday which is history and a tomorrow which is a mystery. We lose the pastry, the celebration, the joy of the present minute! The mind is an expert in stealing our Consciousness and by doing so, our feet are no more on the street of the minute. The mind wants to eliminate the minute by drowning us in miserable thoughts.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 4 & Ch. 27 – Who Takes Us To Yesterday And Tomorrow? / Come Back To The Minute | Page: 16, 74–75

Q: What is the 'future attack' of the mind?

A: There is a very common disease, more dangerous than a heart attack — it is the 'future attack' of the mind. The 'future attack' robs our minute and robs us of life itself. The mind makes us blind. It robs us of the present minute and pushes our peace behind. People who are slaves of the mind exchange their present minute of joy for a future minute of worry. What a foolish transaction! But unfortunately, many of us do this because the mind makes us blind to the precious minute we are surrendering.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 21 – Plan The Future Now, But Don't Live In It! | Page: 61

Q: What does the monkey mind do to our minutes?

A: The monkey mind takes us to a yesterday which is history and a tomorrow which is a mystery. We lose the joy of the present minute! We must stop this monkey business. We must cut the monkey mind's tail — the EY, which is Ever-Yelling and Ever-Yearning — tame the monkey and make it a monk. Unless we tame the rascal monkey and live like a monk, we will keep swinging into the past and the future. But life is neither about the past nor the future. Life is about now, this minute.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 5 – What Is Life In Reality? | Page: 17

Q: How can we build a dam against the mind's flood of thoughts?

A: The mind is like a gushing river of toxic thoughts. Build a dam with your intellect so that the mind doesn't flood you with the past and fill you with regret, shame and guilt. If we live life in the minute, we can lock the mind and block the mind and its toxic thoughts from flowing like a gushing river that can steal our peaceful minute. We can build a dam through our Consciousness, activating the intellect which will catch, detach and latch the mind so that it does not jump up and down and make us frown.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 2 & Ch. 23 – Can We Go Back To The Past? / Peace Is In The Minute | Page: 12, 66

Q: What does the mind do when we are watching a movie or on social media?

A: How often have you felt that an hour has passed and you have just been watching some social media reels and have wasted your time? Not just your time — your mind has also spoilt your mood by feeding you with data that is unpleasant. You were captured by the mind but did not realize it. Sometimes it may be an unproductive call from a person who is gossiping or wasting your time. But time will not wait — the minute is passing! There are some people who can watch a useless movie for 3 hours without getting up.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 27 – Come Back To The Minute | Page: 75

Q: How do fear, worry, stress and anxiety steal the minute?

A: When fear, worry, stress and anxiety occupy our minute, our life gets destroyed. If anger, hate, revenge and jealousy fill our minute, what is the use of living life? We lose our peace and tranquillity because we are living in a future that is full of fear, worry, stress and anxiety. WORRY — Waste our life, Overthink, Repeat the fear, Rehearse the problem and Yearning. What does worrying do? Worry destroys the present minute. STRESS is Sad thoughts, Toxic thoughts, Repetitive thoughts, Exhausting thoughts, Sadistic and Suffocating thoughts that steal our present moment of joy.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 3 & Ch. 11 – Can We Live In The Future? / If We Don't Live The Minute, We Lose Life! | Page: 13–14, 38

Q: What is the relationship between the mind, ego and losing the minute?

A: The mind appears to exist as ME — the Mind and Ego — creating ignorance and making us believe that I am 'I.' Thus, we live as the Lower Self and think that we are the body, mind and ego. The mind inflates the ego that is caught in pride, greed and selfishness. Our minutes are filled with anger, hate, revenge and jealousy. How can we enjoy life when we are slaves of the body, mind and ego? How can we discover the purpose of life when our minutes are consumed by the ego's endless demands?

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 24 – Purpose Is In The Minute | Page: 68

Q: Why is the mind compared to a pendulum?

A: The illusory mind swings like a pendulum into the past and the future. In one swing, it takes us into yesterday — filling us with regret, shame and guilt. In the opposite swing, it takes us into tomorrow — filling us with fear, worry, stress and anxiety. All the while, the present minute — the only real, living moment — is being stolen. The pendulum never rests in the center. Only when we still the mind through Consciousness do we return to the still point — the present minute where life actually is.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 3 – Can We Live In The Future? | Page: 14

Q: How do we come back to the minute when the mind has stolen it?

A: If we flip from mind to Consciousness and activate our intellect, which is very much possible, we can come back to the minute. By taking charge of the next minute, we can discriminate. The mind is a monster — it will swing to the past that is gone and then to the future not yet born. It robs us of the present minute. But there is good news: by living in Consciousness, the minute doesn't just pass away. Life doesn't escape us. We are able to live life by grabbing hold of each minute and making the best of it.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 27 – Come Back To The Minute | Page: 74

Q: What happens when we eliminate the mind from the minute?

A: When we eliminate the mind from the minute, with it goes away all fear, worry, stress and anxiety. We don't let the minute entertain regret, shame and guilt. Each minute becomes so beautiful, so peaceful and blissful. We make it cheerful and playful, just as we are grateful and positive. Once we make living in Consciousness a habit, Consciousness will flow through our day and our life and there will be no space for the mind to enter. The minute becomes life lived to its fullest potential.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Afterword & Ch. 26 – Live Each Minute In Consciousness | Page: 86, 73–74

Q: What is the battle between the intellect and the mind in each minute?

A: If we don't realize that we are in a battle between the mind and the intellect, and between negative thoughts and positive thoughts, we will lose our life. The intellect is the tool of discrimination. We must activate it to stand guard at the gate of each minute. In a minute, the mind appears. If we are able to still it and kill it in the minute, then we live our minute in Consciousness. The intellect is our savior in each 60-second battle against the mind that wants to steal the minute and life itself.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 5 – What Is Life In Reality? | Page: 18

THE PAST — REGRET, SHAME & GUILT

Q: Why is it pointless to live in the past?

A: Nobody in this world can go back to the past. Still, we go! Regret, shame and guilt are what our life is built on. The truth is that we cannot rewind life even by a minute. The minute gone is gone and can never be reborn. Life is unfolding minute by minute. We can only live in the present, not in the past. Nobody can question this. Because we do not realize this simple truth, we keep on regretting what happened yesterday, last week, last month or even last year. We feel ashamed of what we did 5 years back, even 25 years back! Can we do anything about it? Nothing.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 2 – Can We Go Back To The Past? | Page: 11

Q: What does regret do to our present minute?

A: By regretting, there can be no positive consequences — these are only emotions that create misery and sorrow in the present minute. By letting regret, shame and guilt of the past enter the present minute, we destroy it. The present minute is precious and we can do anything with it — but can we change whatever has happened in the past? We can't! Instead of celebrating in the present minute, we are ashamed of what we did 5 years ago. Instead of making the most of the minute in our hands, we are losing that minute by feeling guilty about something we cannot change.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 2 & Ch. 10 – Can We Go Back To The Past? / Can We Go Before Or Go After The Minute? | Page: 11, 34

Q: How does the mind create regret, shame and guilt?

A: The rascal mind — which is nothing but a bundle of toxic thoughts — creates regret, shame and guilt, and minute by minute, it fills our life with misery and sorrow, first by jumping into yesterday and then into tomorrow. It robs us of our life that is nothing but the present minute. The mind goes to the past and nurses, curses and rehearses every regret. By permitting the mind to steal our present moment, we are destroying this precious gift called life. Life is invaluable and human birth is rare.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 2 – Can We Go Back To The Past? | Page: 12

Q: What practical step can we take to stop living in the past?

A: If you want to live life, don't live in the past. Lock the past tightly. Shut the door on the past and throw the key away so that the mind cannot unlock the door to the past. For this, still the mind, kill the mind and be established in Consciousness. This is the only way. The mind is like a gushing river of toxic thoughts. Build a dam with your intellect so that the mind doesn't flood you with the past and fill you with regret, shame and guilt. I live a happy life because I don't think about the past.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 2 – Can We Go Back To The Past? | Page: 12

Q: What do people in the sunset years of life regret about their past minutes?

A: There are many who are in the sunset years of life. Now, when they reflect, they feel that they have not lived life the way they wanted to. 'Oh, how I wish I had!' They regret how they 'could have' and they cry that they 'should have.' None of this can help them relive life again. Therefore, it is for us to learn and treasure every passing minute and make the most of it. There is no sense if it escapes us and we regret it. Our life is in our hands, but it is given to us, minute by minute.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 30 – Don't Lose Life! | Page: 82

Q: Why does living with past regret amount to destroying two lives — the past and the present?

A: We spoil our present minute because of shame. We rehearse our regrets and destroy the precious minute that is in our hand. The past is already gone — we can do nothing about it. But by bringing the past into the present, we lose both. We lose the past to events we cannot change, and we lose the present to our preoccupation with those events. The minute is gone, never to be reborn. And by filling it with past regret, we ensure it was never truly lived. We end up with nothing — no past, no present.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 2 – Can We Go Back To The Past? | Page: 11

Q: How does shame of the past steal our present joy?

A: Instead of celebrating in the present minute, we are ashamed of what we did 5 years ago. Instead of making the most of the minute in our hands, we are losing that minute by feeling guilty about something that happened years ago, something that we cannot change. Shame is a toxic emotion that the mind manufactures about the past and imports into the present, contaminating our present minute with the poison of past events. The moment we recognize this pattern, we can stop it — and reclaim the present.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 10 – Can We Go Before Or Go After The Minute? | Page: 34

Q: What is the connection between the past, misery and losing the minute?

A: By swinging like a pendulum into yesterday and tomorrow, we are only filling the present minute with misery and sorrow. Stop! Live the minute. Get hold of the 60 seconds that are in it. Yesterday, we had 86,400 seconds but they are gone! But the next 60 seconds that make the present minute are just born. Before they are gone, let us live the minute. Let us not try to go before it or go after it — we can't! The past is gone, the future is not born. Only the present minute is alive, and only it can be lived.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 10 – Can We Go Before Or Go After The Minute? | Page: 35

Q: Why is guilt particularly destructive to the present minute?

A: Guilt is one of the trio of toxic emotions — regret, shame and guilt — that the mind uses to steal the present minute. Guilt makes us relive and re-punish ourselves for past actions that cannot be undone. It is utterly futile: no amount of guilt in the present can change the past. But it can and does destroy the present. A person consumed by guilt is robbing themselves of the only time they actually have — now. The solution is clear: close the door on the past, still the mind, and live this minute fully.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 2 – Can We Go Back To The Past? | Page: 11–12

Q: What would happen if we could truly let go of the past?

A: If we lock the past tightly, shut the door on the past and throw the key away — and then still and kill the mind — we would be established in Consciousness, living life fully in the present minute. We would stop filling the minute with what is done and dusted. We would reclaim those precious 60 seconds for peace, love and joy. Each minute would become a fresh beginning. The past would remain in the past, and the present would become what it truly is: a beautiful opportunity, given to us right now.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 2 – Can We Go Back To The Past? | Page: 12

Q: Is there anything we can do about the minutes already lost in the past?

A: We can't do anything about the millions of minutes that have gone by — but we can treasure every minute from now on. This book itself was written that way. As the author realized, 'I could do nothing about the past — but there was something that I could do now — not lose another minute.' Let us not waste another second on the past. The past is done and dusted. From this very minute, let us learn to treasure life. From now on, let us resolve that we will not waste time. Life is nothing but a minute — and this minute is now.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 18 – Poem With Explanation / Ch. 30 – Don't Lose Life! | Page: 54, 82

THE FUTURE — FEAR, WORRY & ANXIETY

Q: Why can't we live in the future?

A: There is no future. There is no tomorrow. There is only today, only now, only the present minute. Can any of us escape this minute and go to the next? Can we take a flight to the day after tomorrow? No. No spacecraft can take us into next year because life is unfolding minute by minute. We are losing our peace and tranquillity because we are living in a future that is full of fear, worry, stress and anxiety. We permit the monkey mind to jump into a future that does not exist. Life is only the present minute.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 3 – Can We Live In The Future? | Page: 13–14

Q: How does worry about the future destroy the present minute?

A: WORRY — a Waste of life, Overthinking, Repeating the fear, Rehearsing the problem and Yearning of the mind. What does worrying do? Worry destroys the present minute. It spoils our life, all because of the mind. Many people exchange their present minute of joy for a future minute of worry. What a foolish transaction! They have traded the real and precious present for an imaginary and fearful future. They become unhappy because they have let go of the present minute and traded it for a future that does not exist.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 3 – Can We Live In The Future? | Page: 14

Q: What is the right approach to planning for the future without living in it?

A: We may have an important court case next week. There is a big difference between planning what we must do and worrying about the case. When we are planning, we will be in this minute, in full Consciousness, enjoying where we are, with who we are, and spending the minute in making an intelligent plan on how to deal with the case. We would not be worrying about the result of the case because we would be firmly grounded in the present minute. Plan the future now, but don't live in it!

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 21 – Plan The Future Now, But Don't Live In It! | Page: 60

Q: Why is the 'future attack' more dangerous than a heart attack?

A: There is a very common disease, more dangerous than a heart attack — it is the 'future attack' of the mind. The 'future attack' robs our minute and robs us of life itself. The mind makes us blind — it robs us of the present minute and pushes our peace behind. People exchange their present minute of joy for a future minute of worry. And the irony is, the future they are worrying about never actually arrives as a future — when it comes, it will be the present. So the worry was entirely pointless.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 21 – Plan The Future Now, But Don't Live In It! | Page: 61

Q: What is the connection between anxiety and a future that does not exist?

A: Together, fear, worry and stress create anxiety that steals our tranquillity. Have you wondered why this happens? It happens because we permit the monkey mind to jump into a future that does not exist. The truth is that we can only live in the present minute but the illusory mind swings like a pendulum into an imagined future. By locking us in a false future, the mind steals our blissful present. We must stop this monkey business and tame the monkey mind into a monk who lives in the present.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 3 – Can We Live In The Future? | Page: 14

Q: Why do some people postpone their happiness to the future?

A: Sometimes, we are trying to be happy but we postpone our Happiness. We don't realize that every minute offers us an opportunity to celebrate. If we want to enjoy something, we must enjoy it now. If we procrastinate, we will lose the joy of the minute. Happiness exists in the minute. Some people waste the minute waiting for others to bring them roses instead of going and plucking their own flowers. It is our choice. We must use the minute wisely. To be happy, we must remember that Happiness exists right now.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 22 – Pleasure Is In The Minute | Page: 62–63

Q: How does STRESS steal our future minutes?

A: STRESS is Sad thoughts, Toxic thoughts, Repetitive thoughts, Exhausting thoughts, Sadistic thoughts and Suffocating thoughts that steal our present moment of joy. Stress destroys our life minute by minute. Stress is caused by the mind drilling us with toxic, negative, poisonous thoughts about the future. We imagine fears, we rehearse problems, we create fictitious dangers. Do we need to worry about these things? We don't. But by choosing stress and opening the door to the mind's thoughts, we lose control of our minutes.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 3 – Can We Live In The Future? | Page: 14

Q: Can we enjoy the present minute even when we know a challenge is coming in the future?

A: Yes! We can have an important challenge next week — but in this minute, we can be fully at peace. The result will be announced in a minute that will come much later. We should not live in that future minute right now. We can plan wisely in this minute, but once the plan is made, we return to fully living the present minute. We cannot cross a bridge before we come to it. We will cross the bridge when we come to it. For now, enjoy this minute — it is the only real one we have.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 21 – Plan The Future Now, But Don't Live In It! | Page: 60

Q: What does worrying about the future cost us in terms of our minutes?

A: I could be allowing my mind to wander and create fear, worry, stress and anxiety, wasting precious minutes as the clock keeps ticking. I could let my ego get angry and then my pride, greed and selfishness would consume invaluable minutes. Before I realize it, the day would have gone! 1440 minutes would have been wasted. How can we stop this? By recognizing that every minute spent in worry is a minute of life lost — it is not just time wasted but life itself wasted. This recognition is the first step to reclaiming our minutes.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 13 – Each Minute Is So Precious | Page: 41

Q: What is the foolish transaction of trading the present for the future?

A: Those who are slaves of the mind exchange their present minute of joy for a future minute of worry. What a foolish transaction! But unfortunately, many of us do this because we are slaves of the mind — the mind makes us blind. We have gone from something real and beautiful (the present minute) and traded it for something imaginary and frightening (a future that does not yet exist). By the time the future arrives, a new future will appear to worry about. The cycle of losing the present never ends until we stop it.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 21 – Plan The Future Now, But Don't Live In It! | Page: 61

Q: How can we stop fear from destroying our present minute?

A: We let our fear destroy our present minute and along with it, our life too. We all know this but unfortunately, we still let it happen. The answer is to flip from mind to Consciousness. In Consciousness, fear loses its foothold because the mind — which generates fear — cannot survive in the light of awareness. We must activate the intellect to discriminate between real danger and imagined fear. We must live the present minute fully, refusing to let the mind's False Expectations Appearing Real rob us of the 60 seconds that are ours.

PEACE IS IN THE MINUTE

Q: Where is peace to be found?

A: Peace, we don't need to find. Peace is that state where there is no mind. The mind is constantly trying to attack us with its toxic thoughts. Every minute has peace embedded in it. But if we do not live in the minute, then peace of mind, we cannot find. In fact, it is the mind that steals our peace — a mind that we cannot find! Still, even if there is a small piece of mind, there can be no peace of mind. The path to peace is simple: still the mind. If we still the mind, we kill the mind, and peace is instantly revealed.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 15 & Ch. 23 – Live Each Minute With Peace, Love And Bliss / Peace Is In The Minute | Page: 46, 64

Q: What is the relationship between peace and the mind?

A: The mind is darkness. Consciousness is light. When you switch on the light of Consciousness, the darkness of the mind disappears. In fact, there is no darkness — it is just the absence of light. So there is no mind — it is just the absence of Consciousness. And when there is no Consciousness, how can we find peace? Therefore, if we really want to be peaceful and blissful in life, we must fill every minute with peace — with awareness and mindfulness. In this state of Consciousness, the toxic thoughts cease to exist.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 23 – Peace Is In The Minute | Page: 65

Q: How is peace the foundation of happiness?

A: Having a peaceful minute means having a happy minute, for peace is the foundation of Happiness. We can be blissful if we are peaceful. Peace is that state where there is no mind — where there are no toxic thoughts to disturb our equanimity. When peace fills the minute, love and bliss naturally follow. Is it so difficult to spend a minute in peace? One mindful minute of stillness reveals that peace is our natural state — always available, always within us, waiting to be uncovered by stilling the mind.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 15 – Live Each Minute With Peace, Love And Bliss | Page: 47

Q: What is Eternal Peace and can it be found in the minute?

A: If only we learn this art of being still in the minute, we can live with Eternal Peace. All mental illness is because there is no stillness. And stillness must fill the minute. Most people don't find peace of mind because they do not switch off the mind. We cannot switch on Consciousness if we cannot switch off the mind. Once we make living mindfully in each minute a habit, Consciousness will flow through our day and our life, and there will be no space for the mind to enter. This is Eternal Peace — peace that lives in every minute.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 23 – Peace Is In The Minute | Page: 64–65

Q: Why do most people fail to find peace of mind?

A: Most people don't find peace of mind because they do not switch off the mind. They cannot switch on Consciousness. The mind is constantly trying to attack with its toxic thoughts. People run behind rituals, travel to distant places, and seek peace outside — but peace is within. Peace is in the minute. We just have to still the mind. When we do, peace is instantly revealed. It doesn't need to be created or found — it is already there, underneath the noise of the monkey mind. Still the mind and discover peace.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 28 – Don't Zoom From Womb To Tomb | Page: 78

Q: How can we use Consciousness to protect the peace in our minute?

A: We can live life in the minute and lock the mind and block the mind and its toxic thoughts from flowing like a gushing river that can steal our peaceful minute. We can build a dam through our Consciousness, activating the intellect which will catch, detach and latch the mind so that it does not jump up and down and make us frown. This is only possible if we fill our minute with Consciousness. Whenever the mind tries to enter, we use the intellect to discriminate and keep it out of the peaceful minute.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 23 – Peace Is In The Minute | Page: 66

Q: What are the 3 Ps of Happiness and how do they relate to the minute?

A: To be truly Happy, we must spell Happiness with three Ps — Pleasure, Peace and Purpose. When these three align, one experiences Eternal Happiness. These three must be found in the minute. Pleasure is in the minute — we must enjoy life now, not postpone it. Peace is in the minute — we must still the mind now. Purpose is in the minute — we must discover who we are and why we are here, moment by moment. Discover the Art of Eternal Happiness with the 3 keys, the 3 Ps of pleasure, peace and purpose.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: About The Author & Ch. 28 – Don't Zoom From Womb To Tomb | Page: 1, 78

Q: How do we fill the minute with peace when the mind keeps interrupting?

A: Reflect on your life. When you are laughing, joking and smiling, is there any scope to be unhappy? No. But suddenly, if you open the door to let a toxic thought enter or something negative happens, you lose your Happiness in a moment. Therefore, the challenge is not to open the door to negativity but to pack every minute with cheer and joy. Fill each minute with Consciousness and there is no place left for the mind to enter. If we fill each minute with Consciousness, the mind cannot bring its toxic thoughts into the minute.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 14 – Fill Each Minute With Cheer And Joy | Page: 45

Q: Why is peace in the minute better than peace sought outside?

A: People run behind rituals like meditation. They travel to faraway places to find peace of mind. But peace you cannot find — it is within. You just have to still the mind. There is no need to travel anywhere. There is no need to perform elaborate rituals. Peace is right here, in this minute, waiting for the mind to be stilled. The most effective meditation is living each minute in Consciousness — aware, present, with the intellect activated and the mind at rest. This is peace found, not in a distant place, but in the present minute.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 15 – Live Each Minute With Peace, Love And Bliss | Page: 46

Q: What happens to peace the moment the mind enters the minute?

A: Every minute has peace embedded in it. But the moment the mind enters, it is gone! If we open the door, the rascal mind will enter and push us on the floor. We will be overtaken by toxic thoughts, and peace will be no more. The future is filled with fear, worry, stress and anxiety caused by the mind. But in the present moment, there can be peace, provided we eliminate the mind. Peace and the mind cannot coexist in the minute — the presence of one means the absence of the other. Choose Consciousness; choose peace.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 23 – Peace Is In The Minute | Page: 66

LOVE IS IN THE MINUTE

Q: What is True Love and how is it experienced in the minute?

A: True Love is not from skin to skin. True Love actually flows from the Divine that dwells within — from the Soul, that Spark Of Unique Life, that is life itself. The acronym of LOVE is Longing Of the Soul, Very passionate, Ecstasy of joy. But this love exists in the minute. The love of yesterday is gone — it is just a memory. The love of tomorrow is not born. But if we truly want to enjoy the bliss that True Love is, we must learn to experience it in the minute. Love is alive only in the present.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 25 – Love Is In The Minute | Page: 69–70

Q: What is the Rainbow of Love (VIBGYOR)?

A: The world only talks of love between man and woman. We have forgotten the Rainbow of love — VIBGYOR: Violet love between parents and children, Indigo love between friends, Blue innocent romantic love, and more. True Love is for the Soul that dwells within. Therefore, we must love all. Then our minute will be filled with love. When we discover this secret, each minute will be filled with the ecstasy of joy that is caused by soulful love. Each of us has a Spark Of Unique Life — a Soul vibrating Consciousness and love.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 25 – Love Is In The Minute | Page: 70–71

Q: Why can love turn to hate in the next minute?

A: Sometimes, when love is not True Love, it can turn to hate. Haven't we seen people love each other in one minute and in the next minute, they want to divorce, break up and be separated?

This is because their love is not TRUE — Transcendental, Rainbow of seven colours, Unconditional and Eternal. Love that is conditional, possessive, and dependent on the other person behaving in certain ways is not True Love but attachment. And attachment can quickly flip to its shadow side — hate, resentment, and rejection.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 25 – Love Is In The Minute | Page: 70

Q: How can we fill each minute with love?

A: We must love all. Then our minute will be filled with love. True Love is universal, not individual — when we discover this secret, each minute will be filled with the ecstasy of joy caused by soulful love. We can also fill that minute with love — not a love that has expectations, but a love which flows to one and all and creates an ecstasy of joy. Even our love for our pet dog is love. If we make the emotion of love fill our peaceful minute, it will only make the minute more blissful.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 15 & Ch. 25 – Live Each Minute With Peace, Love And Bliss / Love Is In The Minute | Page: 47, 71

Q: What is the connection between True Love and the Soul?

A: True Love flows from the Soul — the Spark Of Unique Life — which is the very source of love. The heart is only an organ that pumps blood. The ecstasy that appears to be in the heart is triggered by hormones and chemicals that rush blood momentarily. But True Love is from Soul to Soul. Each of us has a Soul that is vibrating Consciousness, which in each breath expresses love. This is a natural part of our existence. But because we have lost our minutes in the fast-paced world of materialism, Divine soulful love has escaped from our minutes.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 25 – Love Is In The Minute | Page: 70–71

Q: How does love in the minute create bliss?

A: Having a peaceful minute means having a happy minute. We can also fill that minute with love — and love creates an ecstasy of joy. Peace + Love + Bliss = the perfect minute. Is it so difficult to spend a minute showing our love for all those around us? Love can flow as a Divine emotion even to your little pet dog. If we make the emotion of love fill our peaceful minute, it will only make the minute more blissful. Thus, by grabbing hold of the minute, it is possible to fill it with peace, love and bliss simultaneously.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 15 – Live Each Minute With Peace, Love And Bliss | Page: 47

Q: Why has Divine love escaped from our minutes in the modern world?

A: Because we have lost our minutes in this fast-paced world of materialism, Divine soulful love has escaped from our minutes. We are so busy consuming life that we have no time to understand life. We have no time to understand what true Happiness is. We zoom from womb to tomb, never pausing to feel the love that is our natural state. It's time to stop and fill each minute with love. The world of materialism and the monkey mind keep us distracted, but love is always available — in the next 60 seconds.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 25 – Love Is In The Minute | Page: 71

Q: What is the difference between love as a memory and love in the present minute?

A: The love of yesterday is gone — it is just a memory. The love of tomorrow is not born — there is no guarantee that love will be alive tomorrow. The love that has passed by has given us that joy, which is now just a memory. But if we truly want to enjoy the bliss that True Love is, we must learn to experience it in the minute. Love is alive only now. A loving touch, a warm word, a moment of connection — these can only happen in the present minute. The past and future can only contain memories and hopes of love, never love itself.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 25 – Love Is In The Minute | Page: 69

Q: How does the author define LOVE as an acronym?

A: The acronym of LOVE is: L – Longing Of the Soul; O – Very passionate; V – Ecstasy of joy. This love is soulful, universal and eternal. True Love is not a transaction between two bodies or two egos. It is the natural outflow of the Soul's longing for union with all life. It is passionate — deeply felt — and it produces ecstasy of joy. This quality of love is available in every minute, to every person, regardless of external circumstances. It simply requires us to still the mind and open the heart.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 25– Love Is In The Minute | Page: 70

Q: What is meant by 'love all' and how does it relate to the minute?

A: How can we love all? Our love for our mother will be different from our love for our beloved. But both are love. And just because we love our beloved, it does not stop us from loving our pet dog. True Love is universal, not individual. When we discover this secret, each minute will be filled with the ecstasy of joy that is caused by soulful love. The minute becomes a vehicle for love — love for family, love for friends, love for strangers, love for nature, love for the Divine in all things. Fill the minute with love and life becomes celebration.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 25– Love Is In The Minute | Page: 71

PURPOSE IS IN THE MINUTE

Q: What is the purpose of this human life?

A: We are all born and one day, we will be gone — is there any doubt about it? But what happens after we are gone? And why were we born? We are zapped by so much mythology and ignorance that we don't realize the truth. The purpose of human life is to find out: 'Who am I?' The purpose is to discover our true nature as the Divine Soul and be free from the cycle of rebirth. We have been given the gift of millions of minutes — but if we don't spend even a minute discovering the purpose of life, those minutes are ultimately wasted.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 12 – Why Did We Come To Earth? | Page: 39

Q: Why do we zoom from womb to tomb without finding purpose?

A: We zoom from womb to tomb living with gloom. Right from the time we come out of the womb, till the minute we reach our tomb, there is no time to think — all we do is blink and ultimately, we sink! Stop and think. The time is now. We must pause and ask: Where are we? Who are we? Why are we here? We must enjoy every minute and let it bloom. We are so enamoured by this glamorous world of pleasures, people and possessions that we forget who we are and why we are here. Stop zooming. Start discovering.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 28 – Don't Zoom From Womb To Tomb | Page: 76–78

Q: What are the three questions we must answer before we die?

A: Isn't it time to stop and ponder why the heart throbs? What is this life all about? Why are people born — some in a slum, some in a middle-class home, some in a palace? Why do we die? What happens when we die? All this is life, which we don't understand and soon, life passes by. If we live life minute by minute, we can discriminate it, understand it, and ultimately, realize it. We have something called willpower — we can choose, provided we live in the minute, provided there is Consciousness.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 12 – Why Did We Come To Earth? | Page: 40

Q: Why don't we find the purpose of life despite living so many minutes?

A: We live but we forget why. We are so enamoured by this glamorous world of pleasures, people and possessions that we forget who we are and why we are here. We think that we are this body — which in reality, we are not. We have no time to understand what true Happiness is. We have no time to think about what will happen to all that we earn — others will burn it! We have no time to spend before our end. We just zoom. Purpose is in the minute, but we never pause long enough to find it.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 24 – Purpose Is In The Minute | Page: 67

Q: What happens when we live each minute with purpose?

A: When we live each minute with purpose, we are moving steadily toward the realization of who we are and why we are here. We are not just consuming minutes — we are investing them in the journey of self-discovery. We can discriminate, understand, and ultimately, realize the truth. The minute filled with purpose is not just a unit of time — it is a step on the path of LIFE: Liberation from Ignorance and Finding Enlightenment. Each purposeful minute brings us closer to the ultimate goal of human existence.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 1 & Ch. 24 – What Is Life All About? / Purpose Is In The Minute | Page: 8, 67

Q: Who are we in reality and why does it matter for our minutes?

A: We are not the body, mind and ego. We are the Divine Soul. The Soul is flowing with peace, love and bliss, but we don't experience this because the mind steals the minute. It inflates the ego that is caught in pride, greed and selfishness. Our minutes are filled with anger, hate, revenge and jealousy. How can we enjoy life when we are slaves of the body, mind and ego? How can we discover the purpose of life? When we realize we are the Soul, every minute becomes a celebration of our true Divine nature.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 24 – Purpose Is In The Minute | Page: 68

Q: What is the purpose of a minute spent in Consciousness?

A: Every minute spent in Consciousness is a minute lived in the truth of who we are. In Consciousness, we are aware that we are not the body that will die, not the mind we cannot find, not the ego whose 'I' is a lie. In Consciousness, we are established in our true nature as the Divine Soul. This is the highest use of a minute — not just to enjoy pleasure or even peace, but to realize the ultimate truth of our existence. A minute in Consciousness is the most valuable minute of all.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 26 – Live Each Minute In Consciousness | Page: 72–74

Q: How does discovering purpose change the quality of our minutes?

A: When we discover the purpose of life, every minute transforms. We stop wasting minutes on the trivial and the petty. We stop losing minutes to regret, shame and guilt of the past or fear, worry and anxiety of the future. Instead, each minute becomes an opportunity to live with awareness, to love, to give, and to grow toward Enlightenment. The discovery of purpose does not make life easier — it makes every minute infinitely more meaningful and valuable. Purpose is the lens through which the minute becomes precious.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 24 – Purpose Is In The Minute | Page: 67–68

Q: What is the connection between purpose, Enlightenment and the minute?

A: LIFE is Liberation from Ignorance and Finding Enlightenment. Each minute is an opportunity to move from ignorance to Enlightenment. Those who realize the purpose of life and live each minute in service of that purpose are the truly wise ones. Not only will they transcend the misery of the mind and ego in this life — by living in Consciousness and realizing their true nature as the Soul, they can even be free from the cycle of rebirth. Every purposeful minute is a step toward ultimate liberation.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 1 & Ch. 12 – What Is Life All About? / Why Did We Come To Earth? | Page: 8, 39–40

CONSCIOUSNESS — LIVING EACH MINUTE IN AWARENESS

Q: What is Consciousness and how does it help us live each minute?

A: We can all make the best of each minute by being aware of the moments that are passing — a moment comes and a moment goes. If we live in Consciousness, the minute will pause to let us live it. In Consciousness, the minute doesn't disappear — it appears with 60 seconds in it. We don't have to be stressed to live it. We have 60 seconds to live it. But if we are not aware of the minute that is here, it will slip by. Consciousness is the key — it makes us present, aware, and fully alive in the minute.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 26 – Live Each Minute In Consciousness | Page: 72

Q: What is the difference between living in the mind state and living in Consciousness? A:

When we don't live each minute in Consciousness, it only means that we are living each minute in the mind state. The MIND is Misery, Ignorance, Negativity and Desire. In the mind state, the minute is lost in cravings and passion. Hours disappear in ignorance. The day passes in negativity and life becomes miserable. In Consciousness, by contrast, we activate the intellect, eliminate the mind's toxic thoughts, and live in peace, love and bliss. Consciousness is light; the mind is darkness. Choose the light.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 26 – Live Each Minute In Consciousness | Page: 73

Q: What is mindfulness and how does it relate to living in the minute?

A: Mindfulness or awareness is knowing that life is passing by the minute. When we are in Consciousness, the minute doesn't just pass away. Life doesn't escape us. We are able to live life by grabbing hold of each minute and making the best of it. Mindfulness doesn't mean being paranoid or stressed about the minute passing — it means being peacefully conscious that life is unfolding and choosing to live it fully. Mindfulness is the art of being present in each 60-second gift that life offers.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 16 – If The Minute Is Gone, Life Is Gone! | Page: 49

Q: How do we activate Consciousness in each minute?

A: How can we live each minute in Consciousness? By being aware of the moments that are passing. By activating the intellect — the tool of discrimination — with which we wipe out the toxic thoughts of the mind. In Consciousness, we will eliminate the mind from our life and activate our intellect. This is to truly live life at its best. Once we make this a habit, Consciousness will flow through our day and our life, and there will be no space for the mind to enter. It begins with one conscious minute — and then another.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 26 – Live Each Minute In Consciousness | Page: 72–73

Q: What is the role of the intellect in living each minute consciously?

A: We must activate the intellect and still the mind, kill the mind. The mind fights very hard to distract us. It swings like a pendulum, taking us away from the now. The intellect is our greatest tool — it can discriminate between the real and the imaginary, between the helpful and the harmful thought, between the present minute and the mind's fictional narratives of past and future. The challenge of life is to live each minute in awareness, in Consciousness, with the intellect activated, choosing and discriminating.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 4 & Ch. 19 – Who Takes Us To Yesterday And Tomorrow? / Is There Any Other Way? | Page: 16, 57

Q: How is Consciousness like light and the mind like darkness?

A: The mind is darkness. Consciousness is light. When you switch on the light of Consciousness, the darkness of the mind disappears. In fact, there is no darkness — it is just the absence of light. So there is no mind — it is just the absence of Consciousness. This analogy is perfect: just as you cannot remove darkness by fighting it, but only by switching on light — you cannot fight the mind by fighting it, but only by switching on Consciousness. Still the mind, activate Consciousness, and the darkness instantly disappears.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 23 – Peace Is In The Minute | Page: 65

Q: What does 'catch, detach and latch' the mind mean?

A: Beware of the mind! Eliminate the mind — still it, kill it. Catch it, detach it and latch it. For if we don't, we will lose life itself. To catch the mind means to become aware when it is pulling us into past or future. To detach means to step back from identification with its thoughts. To latch means to lock Consciousness in place so the mind cannot re-enter. Together, this process — catch it, detach it, latch it — is how we take back control of the minute from the mind and return to Consciousness.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 5 – What Is Life In Reality? | Page: 18

Q: Can we ever achieve permanent Consciousness in every minute?

A: Once we make living in Consciousness a habit, Consciousness will flow through our day and our life, and there will be no space for the mind to enter. This is to truly live life at its best. It is not easy — living in Consciousness is life's greatest challenge. The moment we are still, the mind enters. But with practice, the mind loses its power. Those who have achieved this flow of Consciousness through all their minutes have achieved the greatest victory: they live every minute fully alive, free from the mind's tyranny.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 26 – Live Each Minute In Consciousness | Page: 73–74

Q: What is the practical experience of living a minute in full Consciousness?

A: I now live my life by the minute. Each minute is so beautiful, so peaceful and blissful. I make it cheerful and playful, just as I am grateful and positive. This simple art of living life minute by minute makes me the happiest man in the world because in the minute, I eliminate the mind. And so, with it goes away all my fear, worry, stress and anxiety. I don't let the minute entertain regret, shame and guilt. It's very simple — and yet, it is the greatest secret of life: live in Consciousness, every minute.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Afterword | Page: 86

DON'T ZOOM FROM WOMB TO TOMB — LIVE EVERY MINUTE

Q: What does it mean to 'zoom from womb to tomb'?

A: It's time to realize what life is all about. It is made up of years that are ultimately made up of days, each day having 1440 minutes. Life is nothing but a minute. But if we don't live it, if we just zoom through the minute, we will zoom from womb to tomb, living with gloom. We must learn to pause and look around the room — Where are we? Who are we? Why are we here? We must enjoy every minute and let it bloom. Ultimately, we will all reach the tomb. But why zoom? Life is not a race.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 28 – Don't Zoom From Womb To Tomb | Page: 76

Q: What is the danger of treating life like a race?

A: Life is not a race. Everybody is trying to be an ace. Instead of enjoying life, we are busy in the chase. Most of us are stuck in a maze! When will we learn to live this race with grace? It will happen only when we learn to live life minute by minute. Life is about living and living is experiencing — and experiencing can only happen if we can witness and observe the minute that is passing. If we don't experience the minutes that have gone by, we have just consumed them. Then the gift called life has escaped.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 28 – Don't Zoom From Womb To Tomb | Page: 77

Q: What are the warning signals that life is passing us by?

A: Life is telling us, 'I am going by the minute,' but we are not listening. The clock is ticking. Alarm bells are ringing. The sun is rising and setting. All these are warnings that life is passing by. It is for us to wake up and take charge of life. Life is not going to wait for us — even if we are sleeping, the clock is ticking. Life has its own ways of reminding us that soon it will be over. 'Happy Birthday!' people say — and how many years have gone by! Have we lived life, or has life escaped us?

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 31 – Live Every Minute | Page: 83

Q: What is the 'Live Every Minute' message?

A: 'Live Every Minute' is the message that we must read every day for life is nothing but a minute. If we don't live every minute, for sure, we are not living life, because there is no other way to live life than to live every minute. The minute comes and the minute goes. Everybody knows that life flows. But are we living every minute? We are so busy in the race of life that we are caught in the maze. Little do we enjoy the breeze and the trees. Do we take time off to look at the rose, the beautiful snow, to bask in the light of the sun?

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 31 – Live Every Minute | Page: 84

Q: Why is it important to discover the cause of our existence before we die?

A: What will happen after death? Why do we lose our breath? We do not pause. We do not find out the cause of why we came to earth, why we got this human birth. We are so busy that all we do is to zoom. Right from the time we come out of the womb, till the minute we reach our tomb, there is no time to think. All we do is blink and ultimately, we sink! Stop and think. The time is now. Hold the minute from passing. Don't zoom. Discover its purpose. Before your death, live life.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 28 – Don't Zoom From Womb To Tomb | Page: 78

Q: What does living a life of true Happiness require in each minute?

A: Discover the Art of Eternal Happiness with the 3 keys, the 3 Ps of Pleasure, Peace and Purpose that create true Happiness. These three must be found in the minute. Fill the minute with the pleasures that you like. Find peace by stilling the mind. Discover the purpose of your existence. If we live with these three in each minute, we are the happiest people in the world. The 3 Ps of Happiness are not grand philosophical concepts — they are practical realities to be lived, minute by minute, starting now.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 28 – Don't Zoom From Womb To Tomb | Page: 78

Q: What is the resolve we must make about our minutes from now on?

A: From this minute, let us learn to treasure life. From now on, let us resolve that we will not waste time. Let us become aware that life is nothing but a minute. We can't do anything about the millions of minutes that have gone by but we can treasure every minute from now on. Let us resolve to live each minute as though it is a priceless diamond. Let us seize the day and grab the present minute. Seize the 'now' before our life goes with it! A minute well-lived makes our life truly worthwhile.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 30 & Poem – Don't Lose Life! / Poem | Page: 82, 89

Q: What happens to those who learn to live every minute?

A: Those who have attempted to live every minute have actually attended to life as it is passing by. By grabbing hold of the minute, we grab hold of life. When the author discovered this simple Happiness trick to pick a minute and live it and then another minute and another, he had total command over life. Each minute became so beautiful, so peaceful and blissful. This simple art of living life minute by minute makes one the happiest person in the world because the minute, fully lived, is life itself fully lived.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Ch. 31 & Afterword – Live Every Minute / Afterword | Page: 84, 86

Q: What is the ultimate message of the book 'Life Is Nothing But A Minute'?

A: The ultimate message is this: life is not about the many years we live. It is nothing but a minute. It has only 60 seconds in it. Can we stop the minute? We can't. We can't stop the clock from ticking. Life is happening this minute. If we want to live life, we have to live the minute. For if we lose the minute, we lose life. We can't go before this minute or after it. We have no option but to live in it. Fill it with peace, love and bliss. Seize it, treasure it, celebrate it — for this is the art of living fully.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Back Cover / Introduction | Page: 7, 105

Q: Why is waking up to the truth of the minute so life-changing?

A: This book can change your life! It can make life exciting because it reveals the truth that life is all about the next 60 seconds. When we awaken to this truth, the entire relationship with time, with worry, with regret, and with life itself changes. We stop running and start living. We stop consuming minutes and start inhabiting them. We discover that every 60 seconds is a complete universe of possibility — a chance to be happy, to love, to grow, to discover purpose, and to live in the fullness of Consciousness.

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Introduction | Page: 6

Q: What is the final commitment the author makes and invites us to make?

A: Let us get hold of the minute and live it. A minute well-lived makes our life truly worthwhile. Let us make the resolve to Suffer No More. Push the mind out and lock the door. Seize the day and grab the present minute. Seize the 'now' before our life goes with it! For those who are busy and who let the minute slip, they will lose life and return in another life, another trip! Life is nothing but a minute — let's wake up to it. Let's live joyously in the minute. Don't lose it!

Source: Life Is Nothing But A Minute by Ravi V. Melwani (AiR – Atman in Ravi) (AiR Institute of Realization, 2026) | Chapter: Poem | Page: 89