

Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too

TOPIC: UNHAPPINESS

Q: What is unhappiness?

A: Unhappiness is a state where we become unhappy. We lose our Happiness. It is a feeling that can be best understood as a negative or a toxic emotion taking over our life or just the moment. It may be fear, worry, stress or anxiety. It could also be anger, hate, revenge or jealousy. Any of these unhappy emotions can steal our peace and bliss and create unhappiness.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 1: What Is Unhappiness?, Page 7

Q: How would you define unhappiness?

A: Unhappiness is a state where we become unhappy. We lose our Happiness. It is a feeling that can be best understood as a negative or a toxic emotion taking over our life or just the moment. It may be fear, worry, stress or anxiety. It could also be anger, hate, revenge or jealousy. Any of these unhappy emotions can steal our peace and bliss and create unhappiness.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 1: What Is Unhappiness?, Page 7

Q: What kind of emotion is unhappiness?

A: Unhappiness is a state where we become unhappy. We lose our Happiness. It is a feeling that can be best understood as a negative or a toxic emotion taking over our life or just the moment. It may be fear, worry, stress or anxiety. It could also be anger, hate, revenge or jealousy. Any of these unhappy emotions can steal our peace and bliss and create unhappiness.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 1: What Is Unhappiness?, Page 7

Q: Can physical pain or injury make us unhappy?

A: We all become unhappy every now and then. But to define unhappiness becomes difficult. We may be unhappy because we had a fall, fractured a bone, pulled a muscle or even tore a ligament. First, the physical pain causes unhappiness and then, we feel unhappy because we are stuck in bed for weeks or months. The thought that we cannot go to the mall, enjoy a movie or go for our evening walk can make us feel miserable. This feeling of being deprived and missing out on life makes us unhappy.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 1: What Is Unhappiness?, Page 7

Q: Why do we feel miserable when we are stuck in bed or sick?

A: We all become unhappy every now and then. But to define unhappiness becomes difficult. We may be unhappy because we had a fall, fractured a bone, pulled a muscle or even tore a ligament. First, the physical pain causes unhappiness and then, we feel unhappy because we are stuck in bed for weeks or months. The thought that we cannot go to the mall, enjoy a movie or go for our evening walk can make us feel miserable. This feeling of being deprived and missing out on life makes us unhappy.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 1: What Is Unhappiness?, Page 7

Q: Can depression or overeating create unhappiness?

A: Unhappiness can also come from just being depressed, physically or mentally. Overeating can create unhappiness, just like a bad stomach. But we can become happy in moments when our fear is replaced by faith and our toxic thoughts dissolve, as problems are solved. Then the dark clouds of unhappiness are replaced by the light and joy of sunshine. Some people can become unhappy on a rainy day, just as some can burn in the heat. Each of us has our own reasons to be unhappy. But do we realize that unhappiness is a choice?

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 1: What Is Unhappiness?, Page 7

Q: Can our mood be affected by the weather?

A: Unhappiness can also come from just being depressed, physically or mentally. Overeating can create unhappiness, just like a bad stomach. But we can become happy in moments when our fear is replaced by faith and our toxic thoughts dissolve, as problems are solved. Then the dark clouds of unhappiness are replaced by the light and joy of sunshine. Some people can become unhappy on a rainy day, just as some can burn in the heat. Each of us has our own reasons to be unhappy. But do we realize that unhappiness is a choice?

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 1: What Is Unhappiness?, Page 7

Q: Why do we become unhappy suddenly?

A: We are not always unhappy. We become unhappy. It is because we may have a desire that is not fulfilled or an expectation that is not met. We may have been happy just a moment ago but it seems like in the next moment, the dark shadow of misery has enveloped us in sorrow.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 2: Why Do We Become Unhappy?, Page 8

Q: What role do desires and expectations play in unhappiness?

A: We are not always unhappy. We become unhappy. It is because we may have a desire that is not fulfilled or an expectation that is not met. We may have been happy just a moment ago but it seems like in the next moment, the dark shadow of misery has enveloped us in sorrow.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 2: Why Do We Become Unhappy?, Page 8

Q: How do thoughts of the past create unhappiness?

A: We sometimes become unhappy because we jump into a past that is gone and regret something that had happened. We feel guilty of what we did, even ashamed of ourselves. As if this is not enough, our mind jumps into a tomorrow and creates fear. We worry, get anxiety attacks and become stressed. In a moment, our Happiness is replaced with unhappiness.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 2: Why Do We Become Unhappy?, Page 8

Q: How does the mind jumping to tomorrow cause unhappiness?

A: We sometimes become unhappy because we jump into a past that is gone and regret something that had happened. We feel guilty of what we did, even ashamed of ourselves. As if this is not enough, our mind jumps into a tomorrow and creates fear. We worry, get anxiety attacks and become stressed. In a moment, our Happiness is replaced with unhappiness.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 2: Why Do We Become Unhappy?, Page 8

Q: What really makes us unhappy?

A: What made us unhappy? Nothing! Nothing really happened. But our mind filled up with toxic thoughts and robbed us of our bliss. Just before this, we were happy, joking and celebrating but in a few minutes, we were overpowered by the toxic thoughts of the mind. The mind is the most common creator of unhappiness. MIND itself is Misery, Ignorance, Negativity and Desires. Without the mind, we could be happy. But when the mind appears, we become unhappy.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 2: Why Do We Become Unhappy?, Page 8

Q: What does MIND stand for?

A: What made us unhappy? Nothing! Nothing really happened. But our mind filled up with toxic thoughts and robbed us of our bliss. Just before this, we were happy, joking and celebrating but in a few minutes, we were overpowered by the toxic thoughts of the mind. The mind is the most common creator of unhappiness. MIND itself is Misery, Ignorance, Negativity and Desires. Without the mind, we could be happy. But when the mind appears, we become unhappy.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 2: Why Do We Become Unhappy?, Page 8

Q: How does the mind rob us of our bliss?

A: What made us unhappy? Nothing! Nothing really happened. But our mind filled up with toxic thoughts and robbed us of our bliss. Just before this, we were happy, joking and celebrating but in a few minutes, we were overpowered by the toxic thoughts of the mind. The mind is the most common creator of unhappiness. MIND itself is Misery, Ignorance, Negativity and Desires. Without the mind, we could be happy. But when the mind appears, we become unhappy.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 2: Why Do We Become Unhappy?, Page 8

Q: Is unhappiness inevitable or is it a choice?

A: Unhappiness can also come from just being depressed, physically or mentally. Overeating can create unhappiness, just like a bad stomach. But we can become happy in moments when our fear is replaced by faith and our toxic thoughts dissolve, as problems are solved. Then the dark clouds of unhappiness are replaced by the light and joy of sunshine. Some people can become unhappy on a rainy day, just as some can burn in the heat. Each of us has our own reasons to be unhappy. But do we realize that unhappiness is a choice?

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 1: What Is Unhappiness?, Page 7

CHOICE — UNHAPPINESS IS A CHOICE

Q: Is unhappiness really a choice?

A: Life is a merry-go-round. Sometimes we are glad and sometimes we are sad. We all experience unhappiness every now and then. Some of us are unhappy all the time, while some of us experience sorrow once in a way. But have we realized that we become unhappy because we choose it? We don't realize it. 'Are we crazy?' is the immediate response when we read – 'My unhappiness is my choice!' But that is the reality. All our miseries and all our sorrows are because we choose to be unhappy.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 4: We Choose To Be Unhappy, Page 10

Q: Why do we choose to be unhappy?

A: Life is a merry-go-round. Sometimes we are glad and sometimes we are sad. We all experience unhappiness every now and then. Some of us are unhappy all the time, while some of us experience sorrow once in a way. But have we realized that we become unhappy because we choose it? We don't realize it. 'Are we crazy?' is the immediate response when we read – 'My unhappiness is my choice!' But that is the reality. All our miseries and all our sorrows are because we choose to be unhappy.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 4: We Choose To Be Unhappy, Page 10

Q: Can I control someone else's actions?

A: Can you control somebody's actions? You can't! But can you control your reaction? You can. When you react to somebody's rude talk, aren't you choosing to be unhappy? Every desire will lead to disappointment but still, you choose to desire. Every 'body' that grows tall, will have a fall. Accept, don't protest. The ego that says, 'I' will always compare and cry. Everything that makes us unhappy is a choice. Unhappiness is a choice!

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 4: We Choose To Be Unhappy, Page 10

Q: Can I control my own reactions?

A: Can you control somebody's actions? You can't! But can you control your reaction? You can. When you react to somebody's rude talk, aren't you choosing to be unhappy? Every desire will lead to disappointment but still, you choose to desire. Every 'body' that grows tall, will have a fall. Accept, don't protest. The ego that says, 'I' will always compare and cry. Everything that makes us unhappy is a choice. Unhappiness is a choice!

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 4: We Choose To Be Unhappy, Page 10

Q: Why is every desire a path to disappointment?

A: Can you control somebody's actions? You can't! But can you control your reaction? You can. When you react to somebody's rude talk, aren't you choosing to be unhappy? Every desire will lead to disappointment but still, you choose to desire. Every 'body' that grows tall, will have a fall. Accept, don't protest. The ego that says, 'I' will always compare and cry. Everything that makes us unhappy is a choice. Unhappiness is a choice!

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 4: We Choose To Be Unhappy, Page 10

Q: What is the lesson of the dog sitting on a nail?

A: Aren't many of us like Tommy? We sit on a nail and then, we groan through life, 'Grrr....grrr...grrr! Oh, how I hate my job, grrr! My partner is so boring, grrr! The food is so yuck.. grrr! It's so hot. Grrr!' There are dozens of reasons why we groan and moan through life. But just like Tommy, we continue to sit on a nail and we moan and groan in pain. If Tommy wanted, he could have gotten up from that nail but it was not hurting that much! We, too, drag through life with our pain, misery and sorrow, because we are able to manage that unhappiness and don't snap out of it, even though we have a choice.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 3: Dog Sitting On A Nail, Page 9

Q: Why do we drag through life with misery?

A: Aren't many of us like Tommy? We sit on a nail and then, we groan through life, 'Grrr....grrr...grrr! Oh, how I hate my job, grrr! My partner is so boring, grrr! The food is so yuck.. grrr! It's so hot. Grrr!' There are dozens of reasons why we groan and moan through life. But just like Tommy, we continue to sit on a nail and we moan and groan in pain. If Tommy wanted, he could have gotten up from that nail but it was not hurting that much! We, too, drag through life

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 3: Dog Sitting On A Nail, Page 9

Q: What gifts do human beings have to overcome unhappiness?

A: Unhappiness is a choice. We human beings have been blessed with both, an intellect to discriminate and a willpower to choose. We can either groan through life, 'Grrr....grrr....grrrr!' or we can change and celebrate life. It is our choice. Unfortunately, we remain unhappy because we choose not to change.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 3: Dog Sitting On A Nail, Page 9

Q: Why do we remain unhappy?

A: Unhappiness is a choice. We human beings have been blessed with both, an intellect to discriminate and a willpower to choose. We can either groan through life, 'Grrr....grrr....grrrr!' or we can change and celebrate life. It is our choice. Unfortunately, we remain unhappy because we choose not to change.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 3: Dog Sitting On A Nail, Page 9

Q: Why are people unhappy when they could be happy?

A: Look around you. You will find that people are unhappy because they don't choose to be happy. We can be happy if we wish but we are unhappy because we are not satisfied. In fact, we are choosing unhappiness by trying to change what we don't have, instead of appreciating what we have. Obviously, we become unhappy.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 26: Aren't We Choosing Unhappiness?, Page 34

Q: How are we choosing unhappiness in everyday life?

A: Look around you. You will find that people are unhappy because they don't choose to be happy. We can be happy if we wish but we are unhappy because we are not satisfied. In fact, we are choosing unhappiness by trying to change what we don't have, instead of appreciating what we have. Obviously, we become unhappy.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 26: Aren't We Choosing Unhappiness?, Page 34

Q: How can I start being happy today?

A: If we want to be happy, we must choose Happiness. Let us not choose to be unhappy by choosing what we don't have. If only we learn to choose what we have, we can become content. We can become happy. Therefore, Happiness is a choice. If you are not happy today, stop seeking what you don't have and start enjoying what you have. Then, your life will turn around from a life of misery and stress to one of peace and Happiness.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 26: Aren't We Choosing Unhappiness?, Page 34

Q: What is the secret to turning my life from misery to Happiness?

A: If we want to be happy, we must choose Happiness. Let us not choose to be unhappy by choosing what we don't have. If only we learn to choose what we have, we can become content. We can become happy. Therefore, Happiness is a choice. If you are not happy today, stop seeking what you don't have and start enjoying what you have. Then, your life will turn around from a life of misery and stress to one of peace and Happiness.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 26: Aren't We Choosing Unhappiness?, Page 34

Q: Should I focus on what I have or what I don't have?

A: If we want to be happy, we must choose Happiness. Let us not choose to be unhappy by choosing what we don't have. If only we learn to choose what we have, we can become content. We can become happy. Therefore, Happiness is a choice. If you are not happy today, stop seeking what you don't have and start enjoying what you have. Then, your life will turn around from a life of misery and stress to one of peace and Happiness.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 26: Aren't We Choosing Unhappiness?, Page 34

Q: Is my unhappiness really my own choice?

A: Life is a merry-go-round. Sometimes we are glad and sometimes we are sad. We all experience unhappiness every now and then. Some of us are unhappy all the time, while some of us experience sorrow once in a way. But have we realized that we become unhappy because we choose it? We don't realize it. 'Are we crazy?' is the immediate response when we read – 'My unhappiness is my choice!' But that is the reality. All our miseries and all our sorrows are because we choose to be unhappy.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 4: We Choose To Be Unhappy, Page 10

DESTINY AND KARMA

Q: Are we destined to be unhappy?

A: No doubt that whoever is born, experiences the triple suffering - the pain of the body, misery of the mind and agony of the ego. But are we actually destined to be unhappy? No! This is a lie!

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 5: Are We Destined To Be Unhappy?, Page 11

Q: What is the triple suffering?

A: No doubt that whoever is born, experiences the triple suffering - the pain of the body, misery of the mind and agony of the ego. But are we actually destined to be unhappy? No! This is a lie!

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 5: Are We Destined To Be Unhappy?, Page 11

Q: Why are we born on this earth?

A: We come to this world because of our Karma, our past actions. If there were no Karma, we would not be born. We arrive on earth with a combination of good and bad deeds of the past. These deeds become seeds that unfold as our life. Just like the seeds we plant, decide what fruit will be on the tree, our deeds decide our destiny. But everything that is happening is not because of our past Karma, our past deeds. We have a choice. We can choose our deeds, plant new seeds and change our destiny.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 5: Are We Destined To Be Unhappy?, Page 11

Q: How do our past deeds shape our life?

A: We come to this world because of our Karma, our past actions. If there were no Karma, we would not be born. We arrive on earth with a combination of good and bad deeds of the past. These deeds become seeds that unfold as our life. Just like the seeds we plant, decide what fruit will be on the tree, our deeds decide our destiny. But everything that is happening is not because of our past Karma, our past deeds. We have a choice. We can choose our deeds, plant new seeds and change our destiny.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 5: Are We Destined To Be Unhappy?, Page 11

Q: Can we change our destiny?

A: We come to this world because of our Karma, our past actions. If there were no Karma, we would not be born. We arrive on earth with a combination of good and bad deeds of the past. These deeds become seeds that unfold as our life. Just like the seeds we plant, decide what fruit will be on the tree, our deeds decide our destiny. But everything that is happening is not because of our past Karma, our past deeds. We have a choice. We can choose our deeds, plant new seeds and change our destiny.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 5: Are We Destined To Be Unhappy?, Page 11

Q: What is Twin Karma?

A: Our life is a combination of two types of Karma - one Karma that we bring to earth and the other Karma that we do after our birth. Together, this Twin Karma unfolds as our destiny. While we can't change our past Karma, we can change our present Karma. That is our choice. If we are miserable, it only shows that we are not doing the right Karma, today. If we did, we would not be unhappy. Karma is our choice. We can choose our actions, our Happiness and our destiny.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 5: Are We Destined To Be Unhappy?, Page 11

Q: Can we change our past Karma?

A: Our life is a combination of two types of Karma - one Karma that we bring to earth and the other Karma that we do after our birth. Together, this Twin Karma unfolds as our destiny. While we can't change our past Karma, we can change our present Karma. That is our choice. If we are miserable, it only shows that we are not doing the right Karma, today. If we did, we would not be unhappy. Karma is our choice. We can choose our actions, our Happiness and our destiny.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 5: Are We Destined To Be Unhappy?, Page 11

Q: If I am miserable, what does it tell me about my Karma?

A: Our life is a combination of two types of Karma - one Karma that we bring to earth and the other Karma that we do after our birth. Together, this Twin Karma unfolds as our destiny. While we can't change our past Karma, we can change our present Karma. That is our choice. If we are miserable, it only shows that we are not doing the right Karma, today. If we did, we would not be unhappy. Karma is our choice. We can choose our actions, our Happiness and our destiny.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 5: Are We Destined To Be Unhappy?, Page 11

Q: Why can't we change some things in our life?

A: We don't realize that we come to this planet, we take birth on this earth because of the Karma that we have already done. The deeds of our past have become the seeds that we planted in the garden of Karma. Those seeds will bear fruit. We can't change this. There may be good deeds and bad deeds. Both are planted in the garden of our life. They will create roots, shoots and fruits which becomes our destiny.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 29: Some Things, We Can't Change!, Page 37

Q: How do past deeds become the seeds of our destiny?

A: We don't realize that we come to this planet, we take birth on this earth because of the Karma that we have already done. The deeds of our past have become the seeds that we planted in the garden of Karma. Those seeds will bear fruit. We can't change this. There may be good deeds and bad deeds. Both are planted in the garden of our life. They will create roots, shoots and fruits which becomes our destiny.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 29: Some Things, We Can't Change!, Page 37

Q: Are we doomed by our past?

A: Therefore, are we doomed for life? No! We are not. We can't change our past deeds but we have full control over our present actions. We have free will and we can act sensibly to create good Karma which become good seeds. A combination of both - our past deeds or past Karma and our present actions or our present Karma - become the combined Twin-

Karma that is unfolding as the destiny of our life. Therefore, whatever is happening, good or bad, which we can't change, we have to joyously accept. It is Karma that is unfolding as our life.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 29: Some Things, We Can't Change!, Page 37

Q: Do we have free will?

A: Therefore, are we doomed for life? No! We are not. We can't change our past deeds but we have full control over our present actions. We have free will and we can act sensibly to create good Karma which become good seeds. A combination of both - our past deeds or past Karma and our present actions or our present Karma - become the combined Twin-Karma that is unfolding as the destiny of our life. Therefore, whatever is happening, good or bad, which we can't change, we have to joyously accept. It is Karma that is unfolding as our life.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 29: Some Things, We Can't Change!, Page 37

Q: How does Twin-Karma unfold as our destiny?

A: Therefore, are we doomed for life? No! We are not. We can't change our past deeds but we have full control over our present actions. We have free will and we can act sensibly to create good Karma which become good seeds. A combination of both - our past deeds or past Karma and our present actions or our present Karma - become the combined Twin-Karma that is unfolding as the destiny of our life. Therefore, whatever is happening, good or bad, which we can't change, we have to joyously accept. It is Karma that is unfolding as our life.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 29: Some Things, We Can't Change!, Page 37

Q: Why do we keep comparing our present life to the past?

A: Strangely, both the prisoners were happy and unhappy because they were comparing their present situation with their past. Don't we too become unhappy because we keep on comparing our life with what has gone by? Instead of appreciating what we have and being happy, we complain and become unhappy.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 6: Two Prisoners In A Jail, Page 12

Q: What can we learn from the two prisoners in a jail?

A: Strangely, both the prisoners were happy and unhappy because they were comparing their present situation with their past. Don't we too become unhappy because we keep on comparing our life with what has gone by? Instead of appreciating what we have and being happy, we complain and become unhappy.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 6: Two Prisoners In A Jail, Page 12

THE MIND

Q: Who is the biggest thief of our Happiness?

A: Every night, when you go to sleep, don't you carefully lock the door of your house? You make sure that it is tightly locked so that a thief does not enter. But you don't lock the door of your head. Before you know it, a thief enters and steals your Happiness and soon, you are dead. You are full of misery and sorrow. The biggest thief that we must beware of is the mind. It quietly enters into our Consciousness and creates toxic thoughts in which we are caught. Fear, worry, stress, anxiety, regret, shame and guilt are enough to wipe out all Happiness from our life.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 7: Who Steals Our Happiness?, Page 13

Q: Why must we lock the door of our head?

A: Every night, when you go to sleep, don't you carefully lock the door of your house? You make sure that it is tightly locked so that a thief does not enter. But you don't lock the door of your head. Before you know it, a thief enters and steals your Happiness and soon, you are dead. You are full of misery and sorrow. The biggest thief that we must beware of is the mind. It quietly enters into our Consciousness and creates toxic thoughts in which we are caught. Fear, worry, stress, anxiety, regret, shame and guilt are enough to wipe out all Happiness from our life.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 7: Who Steals Our Happiness?, Page 13

Q: What seven miseries does the mind create?

A: Every night, when you go to sleep, don't you carefully lock the door of your house? You make sure that it is tightly locked so that a thief does not enter. But you don't lock the door of your head. Before you know it, a thief enters and steals your Happiness and soon, you are dead. You are full of misery and sorrow. The biggest thief that we must beware of is the mind. It quietly enters into our Consciousness and creates toxic thoughts in which we are caught. Fear, worry, stress, anxiety, regret, shame and guilt are enough to wipe out all Happiness from our life.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 7: Who Steals Our Happiness?, Page 13

Q: What is the relationship between the mind and the ego?

A: The mind has another friend called the ego. It brings in the ego to become the Mind and Ego, ME. The ego creates anger, hate, revenge, jealousy, pride, greed and selfishness. These seven miseries of the mind and seven monsters of the ego are enough, not only to steal our Happiness but also to destroy our life. Unfortunately, what we don't realize is that the entry of the mind and ego into the garden of our joy and bliss is our choice. If we wanted, we could have locked the door of our life so that the mind and ego could not enter. Unfortunately, the shameless mind does not knock at the door. It pushes the door and enters, throws us on the floor and before we realize it, we are happy no more! We must learn to shut the door. How can we shut the door so that we can stop the mind and ego? We must eliminate the mind from our life and completely destroy it, kill it! When it comes to the ego, we have to Enlighten it, Awaken it. Then, we can be happy.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 7: Who Steals Our Happiness?, Page 13

Q: How does the mind sneak into our life?

A: The mind has another friend called the ego. It brings in the ego to become the Mind and Ego, ME. The ego creates anger, hate, revenge, jealousy, pride, greed and selfishness. These seven miseries of the mind and seven monsters of the ego are enough, not only to steal our Happiness but also to destroy our life. Unfortunately, what we don't realize is that the entry of the mind and ego into the garden of our joy and bliss is our choice. If we wanted, we could have locked the door of our life so that the mind and ego could not enter. Unfortunately, the shameless mind does not knock at the door. It pushes the door and enters, throws us on the floor and before we realize it, we are happy no more! We must learn to shut the door. How can we shut the door so that we can stop the mind and ego? We must eliminate the mind from

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 7: Who Steals Our Happiness?, Page 13

Q: What must we do with the mind and the ego?

A: The mind has another friend called the ego. It brings in the ego to become the Mind and Ego, ME. The ego creates anger, hate, revenge, jealousy, pride, greed and selfishness. These seven miseries of the mind and seven monsters of the ego are enough, not only to steal our Happiness but also to destroy our life. Unfortunately, what we don't realize is that the entry of the mind and ego into the garden of our joy and bliss is our choice. If we wanted, we could have locked the door of our life so that the mind and ego could not enter. Unfortunately, the shameless mind does not knock at the door. It pushes the door and enters, throws us on the floor and before we realize it, we are happy no more! We must learn to shut the door. How can we shut the door so that we can stop the mind and ego? We must eliminate the mind from our life and completely destroy it, kill it! When it comes to the ego, we have to Enlighten it, Awaken it. Then, we can be happy.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 7: Who Steals Our Happiness?, Page 13

Q: Have you ever seen the mind?

A: If you contemplate what the mind looks like, you will be astonished to realize that you have never seen the mind. You can distinguish between the mind and the brain, which is a bundle of grey matter. But the mind is something you cannot find. How can you see the mind that does not exist?

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 8: Have You Ever Seen The Mind?, Page 14

Q: Does the mind actually exist?

A: If you contemplate what the mind looks like, you will be astonished to realize that you have never seen the mind. You can distinguish between the mind and the brain, which is a bundle of grey matter. But the mind is something you cannot find. How can you see the mind that does not exist?

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 8: Have You Ever Seen The Mind?, Page 14

Q: What is the mind made of?

A: What is the mind? The mind is nothing but a bundle of toxic thoughts. When a barrage of negative thoughts accumulates, it appears as the mind. Then, the mind can attack us with 50 toxic thoughts a minute. This can be a whopping 50,000 thoughts a day! Imagine being shot by this dangerous weapon, MK-50, the Mind Killer-50. It can be more dangerous than the AK-47. However, if we just still the mind, we can kill the mind because in reality, it does not exist.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 8: Have You Ever Seen The Mind?, Page 14

Q: How many thoughts can the mind shoot at us?

A: What is the mind? The mind is nothing but a bundle of toxic thoughts. When a barrage of negative thoughts accumulates, it appears as the mind. Then, the mind can attack us with 50 toxic thoughts a minute. This can be a whopping 50,000 thoughts a day! Imagine being shot by this dangerous weapon, MK-50, the Mind Killer-50. It can be more dangerous than the AK-47. However, if we just still the mind, we can kill the mind because in reality, it does not exist.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 8: Have You Ever Seen The Mind?, Page 14

Q: What is MK-50?

A: What is the mind? The mind is nothing but a bundle of toxic thoughts. When a barrage of negative thoughts accumulates, it appears as the mind. Then, the mind can attack us with 50 toxic thoughts a minute. This can be a whopping 50,000 thoughts a day! Imagine being shot by this dangerous weapon, MK-50, the Mind Killer-50. It can be more dangerous than the AK-47. However, if we just still the mind, we can kill the mind because in reality, it does not exist.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 8: Have You Ever Seen The Mind?, Page 14

Q: How can we kill a mind that does not exist?

A: How can we kill a mind that does not exist? While the mind has no tangible existence like the brain or the heart, it appears out of bundles of toxic thoughts. Then it shoots at us, those negative thoughts. Therefore, although the mind has an illusory existence, it seems to be present. How do we kill it? For that, we must still it. The moment we still our toxic thoughts, either through meditation or just silence, the mind ceases to exist. As we slow down the pace of thoughts, the face of the mind disappears and Consciousness appears.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 16: How To Kill The Mind, Page 23

Q: How does stilling the mind bring Consciousness?

A: How can we kill a mind that does not exist? While the mind has no tangible existence like the brain or the heart, it appears out of bundles of toxic thoughts. Then it shoots at us, those negative thoughts. Therefore, although the mind has an illusory existence, it seems to be present. How do we kill it? For that, we must still it. The moment we still our toxic thoughts, either through meditation or just silence, the mind ceases to exist. As we slow down the pace of thoughts, the face of the mind disappears and Consciousness appears.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 16: How To Kill The Mind, Page 23

Q: What happens when the mind is killed?

A: The one who has killed the mind has eliminated the source of unhappiness. It is the mind that gives existence to the false ego and creates anger and hate, revenge and jealousy. In Consciousness, the ego is Awakened and there is peace, love and bliss. Kill the mind before the mind kills you and you will find Happiness.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 16: How To Kill The Mind, Page 23

Q: Why kill the mind before it kills you?

A: The one who has killed the mind has eliminated the source of unhappiness. It is the mind that gives existence to the false ego and creates anger and hate, revenge and jealousy. In Consciousness, the ego is Awakened and there is peace, love and bliss. Kill the mind before the mind kills you and you will find Happiness.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 16: How To Kill The Mind, Page 23

FEAR, WORRY, STRESS AND ANXIETY

Q: What is fear?

A: What is fear? F E A R is a False Expectation Appearing Real. Fear is not a real danger. It is just a toxic thought of the mind that stops us from being happy. Repeated thoughts of fear destroy our peace and our bliss. How can we eliminate this?

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 9: FEAR – False Expectation Appearing Real, Page 15

Q: Is fear a real danger?

A: What is fear? F E A R is a False Expectation Appearing Real. Fear is not a real danger. It is just a toxic thought of the mind that stops us from being happy. Repeated thoughts of fear destroy our peace and our bliss. How can we eliminate this?

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 9: FEAR – False Expectation Appearing Real, Page 15

Q: Why does fear destroy our peace and bliss?

A: What is fear? F E A R is a False Expectation Appearing Real. Fear is not a real danger. It is just a toxic thought of the mind that stops us from being happy. Repeated thoughts of fear destroy our peace and our bliss. How can we eliminate this?

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 9: FEAR – False Expectation Appearing Real, Page 15

Q: Do fears have teeth?

A: Fears, unlike dangers, have no teeth. They cannot bite. They are just illusory worries created by the mind. We must learn to eliminate fear before fear eliminates our Happiness.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 9: FEAR – False Expectation Appearing Real, Page 15

Q: How can we eliminate fear?

A: Fears, unlike dangers, have no teeth. They cannot bite. They are just illusory worries created by the mind. We must learn to eliminate fear before fear eliminates our Happiness.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 9: FEAR – False Expectation Appearing Real, Page 15

Q: Is worry a choice?

A: First of all, negative emotions like fear and worry are a choice. We must not choose them for when we do, they replace our peace and Happiness. Worry, for instance, is W – Waste of Life, O – Overthinking, R – Repeating the Fear, R – Rehearsing the Problem, Y – Yearning for More.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 10: How To Overcome Worry?, Page 16

Q: What does WORRY stand for?

A: First of all, negative emotions like fear and worry are a choice. We must not choose them for when we do, they replace our peace and Happiness. Worry, for instance, is W – Waste of Life, O – Overthinking, R – Repeating the Fear, R – Rehearsing the Problem, Y – Yearning for More.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 10: How To Overcome Worry?, Page 16

Q: How can we stop worrying?

A: We must choose to eliminate worry, and for that matter, even fear from our life. It is a choice. We can either choose to worry or stop overthinking, repeating the fear, rehearsing the problem and enjoy our life. It's a choice, which if we don't choose, will fill us with strife! We don't have to worry. But we choose to worry till worry becomes a habit and so does unhappiness.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 10: How To Overcome Worry?, Page 16

Q: Why does worry become a habit?

A: We must choose to eliminate worry, and for that matter, even fear from our life. It is a choice. We can either choose to worry or stop overthinking, repeating the fear, rehearsing the problem and enjoy our life. It's a choice, which if we don't choose, will fill us with strife! We don't have to worry. But we choose to worry till worry becomes a habit and so does unhappiness.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 10: How To Overcome Worry?, Page 16

Q: Why should we choose Happiness over success?

A: If we want to be happy, we must choose Happiness. Not choose success that will create stress and make our life a mess! Life is not a race. Life is not to zoom from womb to tomb. We must not get caught in the maze. To be happy, we must live with grace. But why do we become unhappy? Because we don't choose Happiness! We can choose to be happy, by choosing fulfillment instead of achievement, by choosing Enlightenment instead of entertainment.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 11: Don't Let Stress Create A Mess!, Page 18

Q: What does STRESS stand for?

A: What is stress? STRESS is nothing but thoughts that are Sad, Toxic, Repetitive, Exhausting, Sadistic and Suffocating. Why is our life filled with stress? It is because we are made to believe that we should run till life is done. We run but we forget to enjoy life. We are not human doings. We are human beings. But there is no time to be, no time for silence, to be in Awareness and Consciousness. We don't experience Bliss in Truth Consciousness. Our life is a mess because we choose to create stress.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 11: Don't Let Stress Create A Mess!, Page 18

Q: Why is our life filled with stress?

A: What is stress? STRESS is nothing but thoughts that are Sad, Toxic, Repetitive, Exhausting, Sadistic and Suffocating. Why is our life filled with stress? It is because we are made to believe that we should run till life is done. We run but we forget to enjoy life. We are not human doings. We are human beings. But there is no time to be, no time for silence, to be in Awareness and Consciousness. We don't experience Bliss in Truth Consciousness. Our life is a mess because we choose to create stress.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 11: Don't Let Stress Create A Mess!, Page 18

Q: How do I replace anxiety with tranquillity?

A: If we want to be happy, we must eliminate anxiety from our life and the only way to do it is to replace it with tranquillity. Unless we fill our life with peace, we will be running only after pleasure. Unless we take an exit from the highway of achievement, we will never scale the plateau of fulfillment. We will continue to remain a fool because of what we have been taught in school — that success is Happiness. We will believe that achievement is everything. We will continue to create stress and anxiety running after pleasure, thinking that pleasure is Happiness, when in reality, Happiness is just like a shadow. The more we chase it, the further it goes away.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 12: Replace Anxiety With Tranquillity, Page 19

Q: Why is Happiness like a shadow?

A: If we want to be happy, we must eliminate anxiety from our life and the only way to do it is to replace it with tranquillity. Unless we fill our life with peace, we will be running only after pleasure. Unless we take an exit from the highway of achievement, we will never scale the plateau of fulfillment. We will continue to remain a fool because of what we have been taught in school — that success is Happiness. We will believe that achievement is everything. We will continue to create stress and anxiety running after pleasure, thinking that pleasure is Happiness, when in reality, Happiness is just like a shadow. The more we chase it, the further it goes away.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 12: Replace Anxiety With Tranquillity, Page 19

Q: Who would foolishly choose anxiety?

A: If we want to be happy, we must choose tranquillity. We must not choose anxiety. For a moment, one will wonder, what fool chooses anxiety! We all do. We make what doesn't matter, matter. And what really matters, we don't have time for it.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 12: Replace Anxiety With Tranquillity, Page 19

REGRET, SHAME AND GUILT

Q: Of what use is it to regret?

A: Very often, we become unhappy because we think, 'I should have done it that way. I could have...I would have.' We can't go back to yesterday. The past is gone. It's over, finished! But very often, we spoil a beautiful present moment when we live with regrets of the past. Can we go to yesterday and change it? It's impossible! Then, who creates regret? It is the mind. It is only the mind that can go back to what is gone and worry about what is not yet born. Because the mind creates thoughts of regret, we become unhappy. But this is a choice. We can choose to regret or we can change this.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 13: Of What Use Is It To Regret?, Page 20

Q: Can we go back to yesterday and change it?

A: Very often, we become unhappy because we think, 'I should have done it that way. I could have...I would have.' We can't go back to yesterday. The past is gone. It's over, finished! But very often, we spoil a beautiful present moment when we live with regrets of the past. Can we go to yesterday and change it? It's impossible! Then, who creates regret? It is the mind. It is only the mind that can go back to what is gone and worry about what is not yet born. Because the mind creates thoughts of regret, we become unhappy. But this is a choice. We can choose to regret or we can change this.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 13: Of What Use Is It To Regret?, Page 20

Q: Who creates regret?

A: Very often, we become unhappy because we think, 'I should have done it that way. I could have...I would have.' We can't go back to yesterday. The past is gone. It's over, finished! But very often, we spoil a beautiful present moment when we live with regrets of the past. Can we go to yesterday and change it? It's impossible! Then, who creates regret? It is the mind. It is only the mind that can go back to what is gone and worry about what is not yet born. Because the mind creates thoughts of regret, we become unhappy. But this is a choice. We can choose to regret or we can change this.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 13: Of What Use Is It To Regret?, Page 20

Q: What should I do when something bad happens?

A: Imagine, something bad happens. If we continue to nurse our hurt, curse our hurt and rehearse our hurt, we are choosing unhappiness. Instead, to choose Happiness, we must reverse our hurt. We must find a way to do something today that will wipe out the unpleasantness of yesterday. Just regretting will not make us happy. It will only create misery and sorrow, which very often, we will drag into our tomorrow.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 13: Of What Use Is It To Regret?, Page 20

Q: How can I reverse my hurt instead of nursing it?

A: Imagine, something bad happens. If we continue to nurse our hurt, curse our hurt and rehearse our hurt, we are choosing unhappiness. Instead, to choose Happiness, we must reverse our hurt. We must find a way to do something today that will wipe out the unpleasantness of yesterday. Just regretting will not make us happy. It will only create misery and sorrow, which very often, we will drag into our tomorrow.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 13: Of What Use Is It To Regret?, Page 20

Q: Why does shame spoil our game?

A: Many of us spoil our life game because we live with shame. We feel ashamed of certain things in life. How can we be happy? We must eliminate shame and learn to play the game of Karma by doing the best we can. Once we have done our best, we must surrender the rest. There is no place for shame in life. Then, who is playing the 'shame' game? It is the mind! It humiliates us by making us think of our foolish behaviour in the past, which we cannot change, just as it stops us from changing our present behaviour which we can change. Toxic thoughts of the mind create regret and shame only to destroy our present moment of peace and joy. And when we permit our mind to create shame, we lose the game of Happiness.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 14: Shame Can Spoil Our Game!, Page 21

Q: Who is playing the 'shame' game in our life?

A: Many of us spoil our life game because we live with shame. We feel ashamed of certain things in life. How can we be happy? We must eliminate shame and learn to play the game of Karma by doing the best we can. Once we have done our best, we must surrender the rest. There is no place for shame in life. Then, who is playing the 'shame' game? It is the mind! It humiliates us by making us think of our foolish behaviour in the past, which we cannot change, just as it stops us from changing our present behaviour which we can change. Toxic thoughts of the mind create regret and shame only to destroy our present moment of peace and joy. And when we permit our mind to create shame, we lose the game of Happiness.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 14: Shame Can Spoil Our Game!, Page 21

Q: Is anyone perfect?

A: Nobody is perfect. We all make mistakes but our biggest mistake is to feel ashamed of our mistakes. We must learn to accept and move on. Life is a journey and letting the mind play the 'shame' game is a sure way to end our day in a disaster. Shame reduces our self-esteem and self-confidence as we feel inferior about things that we have no control over.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 14: Shame Can Spoil Our Game!, Page 21

Q: How does shame reduce our self-esteem?

A: Nobody is perfect. We all make mistakes but our biggest mistake is to feel ashamed of our mistakes. We must learn to accept and move on. Life is a journey and letting the mind play the 'shame' game is a sure way to end our day in a disaster. Shame reduces our self-esteem and self-confidence as we feel inferior about things that we have no control over.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 14: Shame Can Spoil Our Game!, Page 21

Q: Why do we feel guilty?

A: Why do we feel guilty? Because we did something that seems to be wrong. Everybody does! Nobody is perfect and every time we do something wrong, we learn and then turn to change our actions, just as we try to undo the wrong that our action has created. But more often than not, we feel guilty, either because we can't reverse that action or our mind stops us from reversing the deed. But it doesn't stop us from repeating the guilt and so, misery is built! If only we take charge of our life, our mind and our guilt, we can move forward without going around in circles.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 15: Is Guilt On Which Our Life Is Built?, Page 22

Q: How does guilt build misery?

A: Why do we feel guilty? Because we did something that seems to be wrong. Everybody does! Nobody is perfect and every time we do something wrong, we learn and then turn to change our actions, just as we try to undo the wrong that our action has created. But more often than not, we feel guilty, either because we can't reverse that action or our mind stops us from reversing the deed. But it doesn't stop us from repeating the guilt and so, misery is built! If only we take charge of our life, our mind and our guilt, we can move forward without going around in circles.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 15: Is Guilt On Which Our Life Is Built?, Page 22

Q: Is life a journey of perfection or progress?

A: We human beings must realize that life is a journey, not of perfection but of progress. While in school, we were taught that practice makes a man perfect, nobody is perfect. But practice will make improvement and we can aspire for perfection as we progress on the path that discovers the purpose of our life. Life is Karma and if we do something wrong, it will be recorded and returned. No point in repeating the guilt. Instead, we must act. We can either undo what wrong we have done or plant positive new seeds through our good deeds. Then, we can be at peace.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 15: Is Guilt On Which Our Life Is Built?, Page 22

Q: How do I move beyond guilt?

A: We human beings must realize that life is a journey, not of perfection but of progress. While in school, we were taught that practice makes a man perfect, nobody is perfect. But practice will make improvement and we can aspire for perfection as we progress on the path that discovers the purpose of our life. Life is Karma and if we do something wrong, it will be recorded and returned. No point in repeating the guilt. Instead, we must act. We can either undo what wrong we have done or plant positive new seeds through our good deeds. Then, we can be at peace.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 15: Is Guilt On Which Our Life Is Built?, Page 22

Q: What should I do instead of repeating guilt?

A: We human beings must realize that life is a journey, not of perfection but of progress. While in school, we were taught that practice makes a man perfect, nobody is perfect. But practice will make improvement and we can aspire for perfection as we progress on the path that discovers the purpose of our life. Life is Karma and if we do something wrong, it will be recorded and returned. No point in repeating the guilt. Instead, we must act. We can either undo what wrong we have done or plant positive new seeds through our good deeds. Then, we can be at peace.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 15: Is Guilt On Which Our Life Is Built?, Page 22

Q: Are regret, shame and guilt compulsory?

A: Why do we feel guilty? Because we did something that seems to be wrong. Everybody does! Nobody is perfect and every time we do something wrong, we learn and then turn to change our actions, just as we try to undo the wrong that our action has created. But more often than not, we feel guilty, either because we can't reverse that action or our mind stops us from reversing the deed. But it doesn't stop us from repeating the guilt and so, misery is built! If only we take charge of our life, our mind and our guilt, we can move forward without going around in circles.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 15: Is Guilt On Which Our Life Is Built?, Page 22

THE EGO

Q: What is the ego?

A: What is the ego? It is the identity of 'I'. It is the 'me' and the 'mine' that makes us think that we are different from others. 'I have a name. I am this body. This is my house, my car, my family. They are all mine. What is wrong with that?' questions the ego. The problem is that as long as our ego is in bloom, there will be no Happiness in the room. The ego is so self-centred that it disregards others. We focus only on ourselves and thus, we create misery and stress.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 17: The Ego Creates Monsters Of Unhappiness, Page 24

Q: Why is there no Happiness when the ego is in bloom?

A: What is the ego? It is the identity of 'I'. It is the 'me' and the 'mine' that makes us think that we are different from others. 'I have a name. I am this body. This is my house, my car, my family. They are all mine. What is wrong with that?' questions the ego. The problem is that as long as our ego is in bloom, there will be no Happiness in the room. The ego is so self-centred that it disregards others. We focus only on ourselves and thus, we create misery and stress.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 17: The Ego Creates Monsters Of Unhappiness, Page 24

Q: How many monsters of unhappiness does the ego create?

A: We all talk of the ego. But do we realize that the ego creates at least 7 known monsters of unhappiness? It creates anger, hate, revenge and jealousy, just as it makes us suffer with pride, greed and selfishness.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 17: The Ego Creates Monsters Of Unhappiness, Page 24

Q: What are the seven monsters of the ego?

A: We all talk of the ego. But do we realize that the ego creates at least 7 known monsters of unhappiness? It creates anger, hate, revenge and jealousy, just as it makes us suffer with pride, greed and selfishness.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 17: The Ego Creates Monsters Of Unhappiness, Page 24

Q: How can I transcend the ego?

A: We must begin with the question, 'Who am I?' If only we are able to still the mind and be in Consciousness, we can realize the simple truth that we are not this body that will die. This body appears later. We are conceived 9 months before as the single-celled zygote. At that time, although the ego has started its journey, it has not created the supremacy of 'I' that makes us cry. But a few years after our birth, our ego builds pride, greed and selfishness, and we become unhappy. If only we realize that we are not this body, we can transcend the ego. One day, this body will die and people will say that we passed away. Our family and our loved ones will be so sure of this that they will destroy the dead body and it will return to dust. Then, where did the 'I' go? When we realize that we are not the body that will die and the mind that we cannot find, then the ego that says, 'I,' becomes a lie! We are the Divine Soul. This Realization makes us transcend the ego and transports us to a state of peace, love and bliss.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 18: Let's Transcend The Ego, Page 25

Q: Who am I, really?

A: We must begin with the question, 'Who am I?' If only we are able to still the mind and be in Consciousness, we can realize the simple truth that we are not this body that will die. This body appears later. We are conceived 9 months before as the single-celled zygote. At that time, although the ego has started its journey, it has not created the supremacy of 'I' that makes us cry. But a few years after our birth, our ego builds pride, greed and selfishness, and we become unhappy. If only we realize that we are not this body, we can transcend the ego. One day, this body will die and people will say that we passed away. Our family and our loved ones will be so sure of this that they will destroy the dead body and it will return to dust. Then, where did the 'I' go? When we realize that we are not the body that will die and the mind that we cannot find, then the ego that says, 'I,' becomes a lie! We are the Divine Soul. This Realization makes us transcend the ego and transports us to a state of peace, love and bliss.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 18: Let's Transcend The Ego, Page 25

Q: Why is the ego that says 'I' actually a lie?

A: We must begin with the question, 'Who am I?' If only we are able to still the mind and be in Consciousness, we can realize the simple truth that we are not this body that will die. This body appears later. We are conceived 9 months before as the single-celled zygote. At that time, although the ego has started its journey, it has not created the supremacy of 'I' that makes us cry. But a few years after our birth, our ego builds pride, greed and selfishness, and we become unhappy. If only we realize that we are not this body, we can transcend the ego. One day, this body will die and people will say that we passed away. Our family and our loved ones will be so sure of this that they will destroy the dead body and it will return to dust. Then, where did the 'I' go? When we realize that we are not the body that will die and the mind that we cannot find,

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 18: Let's Transcend The Ego, Page 25

Q: What is selfishness?

A: What is selfishness? It is not having any compassion and consideration for others and excessively focusing on ourselves. We are not bothered about the welfare of others. All we want is our pleasure, lust and greed to be satiated. Ultimately, what does selfishness do? It may raise our monetary wealth but it destroys our mental health. When we are selfish, we create worry, stress and anxiety in our life. We are trying to compete with others and end up being unhappy. What we don't remember is that ultimately, nothing belongs to us. We come empty-handed and we will go with nothing. Then, why be selfish to amass more than we need? It is because of the false ego.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 25: The Ego Creates Selfishness, Page 33

Q: How does selfishness affect our mental health?

A: What is selfishness? It is not having any compassion and consideration for others and excessively focusing on ourselves. We are not bothered about the welfare of others. All we want is our pleasure, lust and greed to be satiated. Ultimately, what does selfishness do? It may raise our monetary wealth but it destroys our mental health. When we are selfish, we create worry, stress and anxiety in our life. We are trying to compete with others and end up being unhappy. What we don't remember is that ultimately, nothing belongs to us. We come empty-handed and we will go with nothing. Then, why be selfish to amass more than we need? It is because of the false ego.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 25: The Ego Creates Selfishness, Page 33

Q: Why is selfishness ultimately useless?

A: What is selfishness? It is not having any compassion and consideration for others and excessively focusing on ourselves. We are not bothered about the welfare of others. All we want is our pleasure, lust and greed to be satiated. Ultimately, what does selfishness do? It may raise our monetary wealth but it destroys our mental health. When we are selfish, we create worry, stress and anxiety in our life. We are trying to compete with others and end up being unhappy. What we don't remember is that ultimately, nothing belongs to us. We come empty-handed and we will go with nothing. Then, why be selfish to amass more than we need? It is because of the false ego.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 25: The Ego Creates Selfishness, Page 33

Q: What is the lesson of the old lady and her wild animals?

A: The wise old aunt explained, 'I have to tame the two hawks that are my eyes that look here and there and make me miserable. I have to tame the two eagles - my hands. Like claws, they try to grab everything and anything they can. I have to tame the snake, my tongue, from vicious words behind the 32 teeth that I am blessed with. I have to tame this lazy donkey, my body, just as I have to tame the two wild rabbits that are running here and there, my feet. Finally, I have to tame that chimpanzee, my monkey mind that wanders into yesterday and tomorrow and the king of them all, the lion, the arrogant ego that rules me. Because of this zoo that is within, I cannot find out who I truly am and I become unhappy.' The nephew understood that the secret of peace and bliss was to be still and find Happiness by taming the animals that were within.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 27: The Old Lady And Her Wild Animals, Page 35

Q: What wild animals do we need to tame within us?

A: The wise old aunt explained, 'I have to tame the two hawks that are my eyes that look here and there and make me miserable. I have to tame the two eagles - my hands. Like claws, they try to grab everything and anything they can. I have to tame the snake, my tongue, from vicious words behind the 32 teeth that I am blessed with. I have to tame this lazy donkey, my body, just as I have to tame the two wild rabbits that are running here and there, my feet. Finally, I have to tame that chimpanzee, my monkey mind that wanders into yesterday and tomorrow and the king of them all, the lion, the arrogant ego that rules me. Because of this zoo that is within, I cannot find out who I truly am and I become unhappy.' The nephew understood that the secret of peace and bliss was to be still and find Happiness by taming the animals that were within.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 27: The Old Lady And Her Wild Animals, Page 35

Q: Who is the king of the inner zoo?

A: The wise old aunt explained, 'I have to tame the two hawks that are my eyes that look here and there and make me miserable. I have to tame the two eagles - my hands. Like claws, they try to grab everything and anything they can. I have to tame the snake, my tongue, from vicious words behind the 32 teeth that I am blessed with. I have to tame this lazy donkey, my body, just as I have to tame the two wild rabbits that are running here and there, my feet. Finally, I have to tame that chimpanzee, my monkey mind that wanders into yesterday and tomorrow and the king of them all, the lion, the arrogant ego that rules me. Because of this zoo that is within, I cannot find out who I truly am and I become unhappy.' The nephew understood that the secret of peace and bliss was to be still and find Happiness by taming the animals that were within.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 27: The Old Lady And Her Wild Animals, Page 35

Q: How do we find out who we truly are?

A: The wise old aunt explained, 'I have to tame the two hawks that are my eyes that look here and there and make me miserable. I have to tame the two eagles - my hands. Like claws, they try to grab everything and anything they can. I have to tame the snake, my tongue, from vicious words behind the 32 teeth that I am blessed with. I have to tame this lazy donkey, my body, just as I have to tame the two wild rabbits that are running here and there, my feet. Finally, I have to tame that chimpanzee, my monkey mind that wanders into yesterday and tomorrow and the king of them all, the lion, the arrogant ego that rules me.

Because of this zoo that is within, I cannot find out who I truly am and I become unhappy.' The nephew understood that the secret of peace and bliss was to be still and find Happiness by taming the animals that were within.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 27: The Old Lady And Her Wild Animals, Page 35

Q: Should we live with the false ego or Enlighten it?

A: Don't we experience jealousy? Is it a pleasant feeling? It never is. It instantly makes us unhappy. Why, then, do we let this negative emotion take charge of our life and Happiness? The answer is the ego. We don't realize how much agony and anguish the ego creates. We don't realize that it is in our hands to live with the false ego and be sad or to Enlighten the ego and be glad.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 22: Why Be Jealous?, Page 30

ANGER, HATE AND REVENGE

Q: Why must we burn anger before anger burns us?

A: Anger is like a fire. It can destroy! It is aimed at hurling an agitated response to others in return for being disappointed or upset. But unfortunately, what we don't realize is that first, anger burns us. Then, the fire reaches the other. It is like trying to throw burning charcoal at somebody because we are angry. First, our hands that hold the burning charcoal will get burnt. We must beware. We must burn anger before anger burns us!

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 19: Burn Anger Before Anger Burns You, Page 26

Q: Whom does anger burn first?

A: Anger is like a fire. It can destroy! It is aimed at hurling an agitated response to others in return for being disappointed or upset. But unfortunately, what we don't realize is that first,

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 19: Burn Anger Before Anger Burns You, Page 26

Q: What is the root cause of anger?

A: Anger is an agony caused by the ego. As long as the ego remains with the false identity, 'I am I and you are you,' there will always be a possibility of anger. But the moment the ego is Enlightened to realize that we are not separate, we are not the different bodies we wear, we are, in reality, the Divine Soul, we are one, then not only will the ego be Awakened but our anger will also disappear.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 19: Burn Anger Before Anger Burns You, Page 26

Q: How can the Enlightened ego make anger disappear?

A: Anger is an agony caused by the ego. As long as the ego remains with the false identity, 'I am I and you are you,' there will always be a possibility of anger. But the moment the ego is Enlightened to realize that we are not separate, we are not the different bodies we wear, we are, in reality, the Divine Soul, we are one, then not only will the ego be Awakened but our anger will also disappear.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 19: Burn Anger Before Anger Burns You, Page 26

Q: Is hate a choice?

A: We can invite hate or throw it outside our gate. It's a choice. But unfortunately, we continue to hate because of our ego. For hate to exist, there must be 'I' and 'you' – 'I hate you.' If there is no 'you', there can be no hate. The ego must be Awakened for us to choose Happiness.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 20: Keep Hate Outside The Gate, Page 27

Q: Why does hate need 'I' and 'you' to exist?

A: We can invite hate or throw it outside our gate. It's a choice. But unfortunately, we continue to hate because of our ego. For hate to exist, there must be 'I' and 'you' – 'I hate you.' If there is no 'you', there can be no hate. The ego must be Awakened for us to choose Happiness.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 20: Keep Hate Outside The Gate, Page 27

Q: Why do we love ourselves the most?

A: We love ourselves the most and it is not easy to love others. But the problem with Happiness is that because we hate others, we not only make others unhappy but we also become unhappy. We must replace hate with love if we want to be happy forever.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 20: Keep Hate Outside The Gate, Page 27

Q: How should we deal with hate?

A: We love ourselves the most and it is not easy to love others. But the problem with Happiness is that because we hate others, we not only make others unhappy but we also become unhappy. We must replace hate with love if we want to be happy forever.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 20: Keep Hate Outside The Gate, Page 27

Q: Does revenge ever truly make us happy?

A: The ego is a monster and it creates the monsters of agony and anguish. Revenge is one of the primary monsters that steals our Happiness. Have you ever seen somebody truly being happy after taking revenge? The ego may make it look like a celebration when we avenge the wrongdoing of another. But deep inside, we lose our peace, the very foundation of Happiness. Those who let the ego reign supreme, won't hesitate to destroy somebody, even kill another to inflate their ego. But in the bargain, is there any doubt that they will lose Happiness?

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 21: Revenge Happens Only With Duality, Page 29

Q: Why does revenge steal our Happiness?

A: The ego is a monster and it creates the monsters of agony and anguish. Revenge is one of the primary monsters that steals our Happiness. Have you ever seen somebody truly being happy after taking revenge? The ego may make it look like a celebration when we avenge the wrongdoing of another. But deep inside, we lose our peace, the very foundation of Happiness. Those who let the ego reign supreme, won't hesitate to destroy somebody, even kill another to inflate their ego. But in the bargain, is there any doubt that they will lose Happiness?

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 21: Revenge Happens Only With Duality, Page 29

Q: What is the real cause of war in the world today?

A: What is the cause of war in the world today? It is because of the ego wanting revenge. Is this a solution? Never! The agony will only create a reaction of more conflict, revenge and hate.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 21: Revenge Happens Only With Duality, Page 29

Q: How can the world ever see peace?

A: What is the cause of war in the world today? It is because of the ego wanting revenge. Is this a solution? Never! The agony will only create a reaction of more conflict, revenge and hate. Unless the ego is Enlightened to realize that we are all part of one Divine creation, unless there is non-duality, the world will never see peace, and we will always remain unhappy.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 21: Revenge Happens Only With Duality, Page 29

Q: Why does jealousy instantly make us unhappy?

A: Don't we experience jealousy? Is it a pleasant feeling? It never is. It instantly makes us unhappy. Why, then, do we let this negative emotion take charge of our life and Happiness? The answer is the ego. We don't realize how much agony and anguish the ego creates. We don't realize that it is in our hands to live with the false ego and be sad or to Enlighten the ego and be glad.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 22: Why Be Jealous?, Page 30

Q: How can we eliminate jealousy from our life?

A: How can we eliminate jealousy from our life? By being happy in the Happiness of others. By eliminating competition that makes us chase things, success and money in order to be an ace. Caught in this race, we lose our grace. The ego creates a maze and then in anguish, we hide our face. We must awaken to get rid of these monsters of the ego. Of what use is it to live with jealousy and be unhappy? Why not choose to be happy, as we count our blessings for the good things that we have rather than focus on what others have?

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 22: Why Be Jealous?, Page 30

Q: Why should we be happy in the Happiness of others?

A: How can we eliminate jealousy from our life? By being happy in the Happiness of others. By eliminating competition that makes us chase things, success and money in order to be an ace. Caught in this race, we lose our grace. The ego creates a maze and then in anguish, we hide our face. We must awaken to get rid of these monsters of the ego. Of what use is it to live with

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 22: Why Be Jealous?, Page 30

PRIDE AND GREED

Q: How can pride create unhappiness?

A: How can pride create unhappiness? The moment the ego says 'I', it not only says it but also starts believing, 'I am the most important person in the world.' Pride makes us think that this whole world is revolving around us. But this is a myth created by pride. What are we, in reality? We are not even a speck of a speck of a speck of this universe. We, as individuals, are a speck of our community. Our community is a speck of our city. Our city is a speck in our country. Our country is a speck in this world. The world is a speck in this universe. When will we realize that we are nothing? Till such time, our pride is going to make us miserable.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 23: Pride Can Make Us Miserable, Page 31

Q: Why is the belief 'I am the most important' a myth?

A: How can pride create unhappiness? The moment the ego says 'I', it not only says it but also starts believing, 'I am the most important person in the world.' Pride makes us think that this whole world is revolving around us. But this is a myth created by pride. What are we, in reality? We are not even a speck of a speck of a speck of this universe. We, as individuals, are a speck of our community. Our community is a speck of our city. Our city is a speck in our country. Our country is a speck in this world. The world is a speck in this universe. When will we realize that we are nothing? Till such time, our pride is going to make us miserable.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 23: Pride Can Make Us Miserable, Page 31

Q: What are we, in reality, in this universe?

A: How can pride create unhappiness? The moment the ego says 'I', it not only says it but also starts believing, 'I am the most important person in the world.' Pride makes us think that this whole world is revolving around us. But this is a myth created by pride. What are we, in reality? We are not even a speck of a speck of a speck of this universe. We, as individuals, are a speck of our community. Our community is a speck of our city. Our city is a speck in our country. Our country is a speck in this world. The world is a speck in this universe. When will we realize that we are nothing? Till such time, our pride is going to make us miserable.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 23: Pride Can Make Us Miserable, Page 31

Q: How long will pride make us miserable?

A: How can pride create unhappiness? The moment the ego says 'I', it not only says it but also starts believing, 'I am the most important person in the world.' Pride makes us think that this whole world is revolving around us. But this is a myth created by pride. What are we, in reality? We are not even a speck of a speck of a speck of this universe. We, as individuals, are a speck of our community. Our community is a speck of our city. Our city is a speck in our country. Our country is a speck in this world. The world is a speck in this universe. When will we realize that we are nothing? Till such time, our pride is going to make us miserable.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 23: Pride Can Make Us Miserable, Page 31

Q: What is the solution to pride?

A: What is the solution? To replace pride with humility, to realize, 'I am nothing,' and to realize, 'We are all manifestations of the one Divine.' Unless we transcend the ego, humility will not replace pride and peace, and bliss will hide behind our pride. The moment pride disappears, Happiness appears. Don't be tied with pride.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 23: Pride Can Make Us Miserable, Page 31

Q: How does humility replace pride?

A: What is the solution? To replace pride with humility, to realize, 'I am nothing,' and to realize, 'We are all manifestations of the one Divine.' Unless we transcend the ego, humility will not replace pride and peace, and bliss will hide behind our pride. The moment pride disappears, Happiness appears. Don't be tied with pride.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 23: Pride Can Make Us Miserable, Page 31

Q: When does Happiness appear in the room?

A: What is the solution? To replace pride with humility, to realize, 'I am nothing,' and to realize, 'We are all manifestations of the one Divine.' Unless we transcend the ego, humility will not replace pride and peace, and bliss will hide behind our pride. The moment pride disappears, Happiness appears. Don't be tied with pride.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 23: Pride Can Make Us Miserable, Page 31

Q: Why does need turn into greed?

A: While we can choose to be happy, why do we so often become unhappy? It is because we let our need become greed. We all need to fulfil our need. We need air, water and food to live. But when we start seeking exotic things to drink and eat, brands to wear, luxury cars and gadgets to live with, then, we have changed our need and started to live with greed. Greed can never be satisfied. It is a bottomless well that is sure to make us unhappy! If we want to be happy, we must replace greed with need.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 24: Replace Greed With Need, Page 32

Q: Can greed ever be satisfied?

A: While we can choose to be happy, why do we so often become unhappy? It is because we let our need become greed. We all need to fulfil our need. We need air, water and food to live. But when we start seeking exotic things to drink and eat, brands to wear, luxury cars and gadgets to live with, then, we have changed our need and started to live with greed. Greed can never be satisfied. It is a bottomless well that is sure to make us unhappy! If we want to be happy, we must replace greed with need.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 24: Replace Greed With Need, Page 32

Q: How do I replace greed with need?

A: While we can choose to be happy, why do we so often become unhappy? It is because we let our need become greed. We all need to fulfil our need. We need air, water and food to live. But when we start seeking exotic things to drink and eat, brands to wear, luxury cars and gadgets to live with, then, we have changed our need and started to live with greed. Greed can never be satisfied. It is a bottomless well that is sure to make us unhappy! If we want to be happy, we must replace greed with need.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 24: Replace Greed With Need, Page 32

Q: What is the way to Happiness when it comes to wanting more?

A: What is the way to Happiness? To count our blessings as we fulfil our need and not create a fire of desire with our greed. Greed can never be fulfilled. It can never make us happy. But unless the ego is transcended, greed will overtake need and create unhappiness.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 24: Replace Greed With Need, Page 32

Q: Why does greed overtake need?

A: What is the way to Happiness? To count our blessings as we fulfil our need and not create a fire of desire with our greed. Greed can never be fulfilled. It can never make us happy. But unless the ego is transcended, greed will overtake need and create unhappiness.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 24: Replace Greed With Need, Page 32

Q: Why is the ego so self-centred?

A: What is the ego? It is the identity of 'I'. It is the 'me' and the 'mine' that makes us think that we are different from others. 'I have a name. I am this body. This is my house, my car, my family. They are all mine. What is wrong with that?' questions the ego. The problem is that as long as our ego is in bloom, there will be no Happiness in the room. The ego is so self-centred that it disregards others. We focus only on ourselves and thus, we create misery and stress.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 17: The Ego Creates Monsters Of Unhappiness, Page 24

Q: How does pride lead to anger and hate?

A: How can pride create unhappiness? The moment the ego says 'I', it not only says it but also starts believing, 'I am the most important person in the world.' Pride makes us think that this whole world is revolving around us. But this is a myth created by pride. What are we, in reality? We are not even a speck of a speck of a speck of this universe. We, as individuals, are a speck of our community. Our community is a speck of our city. Our city is a speck in our country. Our country is a speck in this world. The world is a speck in this universe. When will we realize that we are nothing? Till such time, our pride is going to make us miserable.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 23: Pride Can Make Us Miserable, Page 31

Q: What helps the ego let go of pride and greed?

A: We must begin with the question, 'Who am I?' If only we are able to still the mind and be in Consciousness, we can realize the simple truth that we are not this body that will die. This body appears later. We are conceived 9 months before as the single-celled zygote. At that time, although the ego has started its journey, it has not created the supremacy of 'I' that makes us cry. But a few years after our birth, our ego builds pride, greed and selfishness, and we become unhappy. If only we realize that we are not this body, we can transcend the ego. One day, this body will die and people will say that we passed away. Our family and our loved ones will be so sure of this that they will destroy the dead body and it will return to dust. Then, where did the 'I' go? When we realize that we are not the body that will die and the mind that we cannot find, then the ego that says, 'I,' becomes a lie! We are the Divine Soul. This Realization makes us transcend the ego and transports us to a state of peace, love and bliss.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 18: Let's Transcend The Ego, Page 25

CHOOSING HAPPINESS AND ACCEPTANCE

Q: Can we choose to be happy?

A: People say, 'I want to be happy.' The moment there is 'I', the ego enters and Happiness exits. The moment we want Happiness, desire appears and Happiness disappears. The desire and the passion that are seeking Happiness lead us to disappointment, which is the root cause of unhappiness. Therefore, we must change. We must not say, 'I want to be happy.' We must say, 'I choose to be happy.' If only we choose to be happy, nothing can make us unhappy. Nobody can make us unhappy. But what if we choose to be unhappy?

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 28: Can We Choose To Be Happy?, Page 36

Q: Why does saying 'I want to be happy' make Happiness exit?

A: People say, 'I want to be happy.' The moment there is 'I', the ego enters and Happiness exits. The moment we want Happiness, desire appears and Happiness disappears. The desire and the passion that are seeking Happiness lead us to disappointment, which is the root cause of unhappiness. Therefore, we must change. We must not say, 'I want to be happy.' We must say, 'I choose to be happy.' If only we choose to be happy, nothing can make us unhappy. Nobody can make us unhappy. But what if we choose to be unhappy?

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 28: Can We Choose To Be Happy?, Page 36

Q: What is the right way to phrase our intention for Happiness?

A: People say, 'I want to be happy.' The moment there is 'I', the ego enters and Happiness exits. The moment we want Happiness, desire appears and Happiness disappears. The desire and the passion that are seeking Happiness lead us to disappointment, which is the root cause of unhappiness. Therefore, we must change. We must not say, 'I want to be happy.' We must say, 'I choose to be happy.' If only we choose to be happy, nothing can make us unhappy. Nobody can make us unhappy. But what if we choose to be unhappy?

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 28: Can We Choose To Be Happy?, Page 36

Q: Does Happiness depend on what we have?

A: Happiness is a choice. Happiness doesn't depend on what you have but on how you feel. You may have everything and be unhappy. You may have nothing and still be happy. How does it work? Happiness is a state of being. We must not try to become happy. When we try to

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 28: Can We Choose To Be Happy?, Page 36

Q: What kind of state is Happiness?

A: Happiness is a choice. Happiness doesn't depend on what you have but on how you feel. You may have everything and be unhappy. You may have nothing and still be happy. How does it work? Happiness is a state of being. We must not try to become happy. When we try to become happy, we become unhappy. But if we choose to be happy, we can always be happy. Unhappiness cannot enter our life if our choice is peace, love and bliss.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 28: Can We Choose To Be Happy?, Page 36

Q: Why does trying to become happy make us unhappy?

A: Happiness is a choice. Happiness doesn't depend on what you have but on how you feel. You may have everything and be unhappy. You may have nothing and still be happy. How does it work? Happiness is a state of being. We must not try to become happy. When we try to become happy, we become unhappy. But if we choose to be happy, we can always be happy. Unhappiness cannot enter our life if our choice is peace, love and bliss.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 28: Can We Choose To Be Happy?, Page 36

Q: What is the art of acceptance?

A: To be happy, one must understand that life is Karma and we must accept it joyously. One must not protest and resist whatever unfolds in life. That will only make us unhappy. Therefore, the art of Happiness is to accept, joyously accept, knowing that we can't change our past actions. Then, we must do the best possible we can in the present circumstances. Once this is done, we must peacefully accept whatever unfolds in life for it is beyond our control.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 30: The Art Of Acceptance, Page 38

Q: Why must we not protest what unfolds in life?

A: To be happy, one must understand that life is Karma and we must accept it joyously. One must not protest and resist whatever unfolds in life. That will only make us unhappy. Therefore, the art of Happiness is to accept, joyously accept, knowing that we can't change our past actions. Then, we must do the best possible we can in the present circumstances. Once this is done, we must peacefully accept whatever unfolds in life for it is beyond our control.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 30: The Art Of Acceptance, Page 38

Q: After doing our best, what must we do?

A: To be happy, one must understand that life is Karma and we must accept it joyously. One must not protest and resist whatever unfolds in life. That will only make us unhappy. Therefore, the art of Happiness is to accept, joyously accept, knowing that we can't change our past actions. Then, we must do the best possible we can in the present circumstances. Once this is done, we must peacefully accept whatever unfolds in life for it is beyond our control.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 30: The Art Of Acceptance, Page 38

Q: What is the secret of Happiness?

A: Those who understand how Karma works, live joyously, with peace and learn to accept. This art of acceptance is the secret of Happiness. There is no resistance to whatever is happening because we realize that nothing happens by chance or by luck. We pluck what we plant. What is coming to us is exactly what we deserve. Life is a boomerang. We should accept, we should not wonder! And after doing our best, we should not hope, we should just surrender. This is the way to live a life of Eternal Peace and Everlasting Happiness.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 30: The Art Of Acceptance, Page 38

Q: Why is life a boomerang?

A: Those who understand how Karma works, live joyously, with peace and learn to accept. This art of acceptance is the secret of Happiness. There is no resistance to whatever is happening because we realize that nothing happens by chance or by luck. We pluck what we plant. What is coming to us is exactly what we deserve. Life is a boomerang. We should accept, we should not wonder! And after doing our best, we should not hope, we should just surrender. This is the way to live a life of Eternal Peace and Everlasting Happiness.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 30: The Art Of Acceptance, Page 38

Q: Should we hope or surrender after doing our best?

A: Those who understand how Karma works, live joyously, with peace and learn to accept. This art of acceptance is the secret of Happiness. There is no resistance to whatever is happening because we realize that nothing happens by chance or by luck. We pluck what we plant. What is coming to us is exactly what we deserve. Life is a boomerang. We should accept, we should not

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 30: The Art Of Acceptance, Page 38

Q: How do we live a life of Eternal Peace and Everlasting Happiness?

A: Those who understand how Karma works, live joyously, with peace and learn to accept. This art of acceptance is the secret of Happiness. There is no resistance to whatever is happening because we realize that nothing happens by chance or by luck. We pluck what we plant. What is coming to us is exactly what we deserve. Life is a boomerang. We should accept, we should not wonder! And after doing our best, we should not hope, we should just surrender. This is the way to live a life of Eternal Peace and Everlasting Happiness.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 30: The Art Of Acceptance, Page 38

Q: Why must we joyously accept whatever unfolds?

A: Therefore, are we doomed for life? No! We are not. We can't change our past deeds but we have full control over our present actions. We have free will and we can act sensibly to create good Karma which become good seeds. A combination of both - our past deeds or past Karma and our present actions or our present Karma - become the combined Twin-Karma that is unfolding as the destiny of our life. Therefore, whatever is happening, good or bad, which we can't change, we have to joyously accept. It is Karma that is unfolding as our life.

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 29: Some Things, We Can't Change!, Page 37

Q: Should I 'want' Happiness or 'choose' Happiness?

A: People say, 'I want to be happy.' The moment there is 'I', the ego enters and Happiness exits. The moment we want Happiness, desire appears and Happiness disappears. The desire and the passion that are seeking Happiness lead us to disappointment, which is the root cause of unhappiness. Therefore, we must change. We must not say, 'I want to be happy.' We must say, 'I choose to be happy.' If only we choose to be happy, nothing can make us unhappy. Nobody can make us unhappy. But what if we choose to be unhappy?

Source: Unhappiness is a Choice! Happiness is a Choice Too, Chapter 28: Can We Choose To Be Happy?, Page 36